Index

Acceptance process, 101–102
Action-oriented uncertainty, 67
Action plan, 127, 249, 354, 464, 467
Activity and event logbook, 696
Activity and time control, 669–683
activity planning, 670 critical chain, 677–678
cyclogram, 681
Gantt chart, 678–681
rolling work planning, 670–674
scheduling, 675–677, 682–683
Activity overlap, rules for, 687
Administrator, 212, 271, 657
Agile company development, 336, 342
elements of, 374
framework for, 374–375
portfolio management, 376–377
projects, 375
principles of, 375
resources, 377
Agile project management, 23, 74, 78, 139, 141, 142, 222, 317, 386, 523, 538, 556 competent and empowered project team, 570–572 direction and coherence, 561–562 flow and speed, 563–570 simplification and improvement, 572–575 topicality, 560–561
users on board, 562–563
value and quality, 557–560
Agile thinking, 139–142, 348, 374
Agreement logbook, 696
Ambition, managing level of, 78
American GERT/GAN, 464
Anchorage in the user organization, 152, 170–174
APM BOK, 35, 422–424
Appreciative inquiry, 629, 631, 632
Architect, 149, 162–163
Basic models and situational approach, 32
Beginning of a project, 133–134
Behavioral competency, 652, 655–656
Benefit goals, 442–446, 452, 453
Benefit management, 403–404
Bidding phase, 143, 722
Black-box description of a system, 750
Blog, 693
BOT projects (Build, Operate, Transfer), 147
Bottom-up planning strategy, 355–356
Briefing meetings, 225
Budget, 57, 81, 270, 325–330, 721, 725, 727
Budget control, 325, 327–329, 722, 725–727
Buffer management, 678
Business and entrepreneurial perspective, of project, 26
Business development and value creation, 401
aligning partners’ business interests, 403
benefit management, 403–404
business modeling, 402
visioneering, 402
Business development projects, 16, 100, 154
environment, 17
project management, 17–18
project task, 16–17
resources, 17
stakeholders, 17
Business modeling, 402
Buyer–supplier situation, 192–193
Capacity calculations, 719–720
Career ladder, 273
Cascade model of a production group project, 94
Cash flow, 329
Cause-and-effect diagram, 199, 741, 744
Cause-effect analysis, 634
Challenges, project. See Project challenges Change logbook, 695–696
Change management, 44, 100, 104, 172, 174, 261, 392
management of development initiatives, 399–401
and project management, 395–398 renewal project and change, relationships between, 394
total change process, 395 change analysis, 530–531 change task, 531
considering the approach, 526–530 course of action as, 122–124
four tasks of, 100
influence and engagement, 532–534 Kotter’s eight points in, 123
project as part of, 42–45
Characteristics of project, 204, 244, 415 models of project management functions, 422–426 portrait, 415–421
Circular working mode, 12–15
Circular work pattern, 233–234
“Circular” planning process, 13, 14
Closing the project, 136–137
Coach, 369, 630–631, 634
Coalition model, 40, 41, 434
Collaborative behavior, 603
Collective learning, 27, 33, 101, 249–250, 408, 629, 630
Co-management, 154, 269, 274, 275, 276, 571
Commitment to the project work, 220
Committed costs account, 328
Communication, 19, 174, 208, 215–216, 261, 310, 398, 462, 571, 621
Communication place, 691, 693
Communication plan, 230, 624–626
Communication system, for project control, 301
documentation, 302
issue management, 303
project control file, 301–302
project info-room, 302
Company and organizational development projects, 18
environment, 19
project management, 19
project task, 18
resources, 19
stakeholders, 19
Company competency, 230
in joint reflection, 640–641 Company organization, interaction with, 590
double-sided authority relationship, 592–593
permanent authority overlap, 592
project organization as separate department, 593–594
temporary authority overlap, 591–592
traditional organization with unambiguous responsibility structure, 591 Company project model, 32–33
Competencies, 49, 250, 570, 627–629, 652, 655 development, 652
of project management, 36–37, 653
requirements, 267–273
Competency center, 378–379
Competency development, 37, 49, 227, 250, 257, 344, 379, 392, 406, 652, 653
as step-wise process, 410–411
Competency-gap analysis, 571
Competency organization, 196, 227–229, 250–251, 408
Competency Profile Form, 658
Completed project, evaluation of, 301
Completion of project task, 134
Completion plan, 702
Complex competency, 249
Complexity, dimensions of, 45, 53, 69, 70, 233 Complexity, handling, 233
circular work pattern, 233–234
concept thinking, 235–236
creation of shared pictures in workshops, 237
elevator model, 234–235
interplay between holism and details, 234 use of models for dialog, 237 visualization and experience, 236–237
Complexity syndrome, 84
Complex project, controlling, 297–299
Computer-based simulations, 236
Concept-based phase model, 118, 125
Concept documentation, 453, 454, 456
Concept thinking, 235–236
Concretization process, 94, 120
Condition-oriented uncertainty, 67
Conditions for project management, 267
Configuration management (CM), 306, 775–777
change control, 776–777
design review, 776
identification of configuration, 775 reference basis, 776 Conflicts, dealing with, 609–616
reactions to conflict situation, 613
Construction cost, percentage of, 735
Consultants, 129, 167–168
Contracting, 733–737
contract administration, 736–737 types of contracts, 735–736 types of delivery, 733–735
Contract management, 330–332
Contract manager, 255
Contract orientation, 137
Control, of project work, 669
   activity and time control, 669–683
   analysis of problems and needs, 737–750
configuration Management (CM), 775–777
contracting, 733–737
cost control, 721–730
failure modes and effects analysis (FMEA), 772–775
imposed effects, 769–772
issue management, 694–695
logical framework, 750–755
materials control, 731–733
network planning, 683–689
performance measurement (PM), 704–709
product/system specification, 758–759
progress measurement, 697–704
project info-room, 689–694
project logbooks, 695–697
quality assurance, 759–765
Quality Function Deployment (QFD), 766–769
resource control, 715–721
status report and management report, 709–714 utility values and benefits, 756–758
Control functions and processes, of project planning, 285
Control meetings, 597–598, 599
Control of results, 303
   product and quality, 304–310
   utility value, 304
Control task stems from uncertainty, 285–287
Cooperation in the project organization, 201, 595 authority of the project group, 206–207
communication plan, 624–626
cooperation with interested parties/stakeholders, 223
communication plan, 230
cooperation with norm-setting parties, 229 cooperation with resource organization, 227–229 cooperation with users, 224–227 management attention, 223–224 neighbors and spectators, 229
co-play, 203–205
dealing with conflicts, 609
   disagreements, 610–616
decision process, 616, 619–623
decision model, 617our basic ideas, 617–618
garbage-can model, 618–619
five elements of cooperation, 207–209
good teamwork, 602
during, 606–608
ending, 609
start, 604
learning, 245–251, 626
across projects, 636–641
collective learning, 629
during the project, 630–636
individual learning, 629
organization’s project competencies, 627–629
meetings, 595
control meetings, 597–598, 599
launch meetings, 596
meeting minutes, 598–602
work meetings, 595–596, 597
norms for cooperation, 206 project organization maturity, 239
group values, 244
stages in group development, 242–244 project team, cooperation in, 207
meetings, 216–218
project room, 215–216
work intensity, 218–222
work patterns, 209–215
project work, 230
decision process and limited rationality, 230–233 fields of tension, 238–239 handling project complexity, 233–237
steering committee’s work patterns, 222–223
Cooperation on the project, 168
anchorage in the user organization, 152, 170–174
change management, 174
management contribution, 152, 169–170
professional contribution, 151, 169
stakeholders and influence, 152, 174–179
Cooperation place, 691
Coordination, 92, 127, 168, 184, 208
Coordination and control schedule, 313, 314, 534
activities, 539–541
activity responsibility, 541 approach, 537 documenting plan, 547–548
milestone planning, 543–547
milestones, 537–539 schedule, 541–543
work paths, 535–537
Coordination group, 168, 192–193
Co-play, 203–205
Core team, 270
steering meeting, 672
Correspondence logbook, 696
Cost control, 327–329, 721–730
activities, 728
budget, 725
budget control, 725–727
cost estimation, 721–722
project accounts, 727
successive calculation,
723–725
Cost drivers, 307, 770
Cost estimation, 721–722
Cost plus contribution margin,
735
Course of action, 11, 38, 40, 80, 87, 94–96, 98,
107–110, 113, 114, 115,
117, 119, 120, 121, 124,
142, 275
Agile and Lean project
management, 139–142
aspects of preparing a master plan for, 128
as a change process, 122–124 choice of, 110
closing the project, 136–137
complexity, 109
concept-based phase model, 118 course as decisions, 114–117
detailed planning, 127–129
dilemma, planning, 131–133 formal start of the project, 136
four-perspective model, 112 entrepreneurial/business perspective, 113 organizational perspective, 113 political perspective, 114
technical perspective, 112
holistic project planning, 124–125
hospital catering system, 92–93
industry-based phase model, 117–118
iterative approach, 118
deliveries for each stage, 118 development with solution experiments, 118–119
explorative processes, 119
maneuverability, 137–139
new business, developing,
94–95
planning events during the project, 125–127
pregnant women, healthy food for, 90–91
product-determined phase model, 117
production groups, introduction of, 93–94
project processes, 96
dealing with environment, 106 management processes, 106–107
related to application and operation of project result, 105–106
related to the project task, 97–105
project task, structuring, 108–109 relationship to other rhythms, 142–143
standard phase model, 119–122
technical equipment, delivery of, 91–92
theater performance, creating, 95–96
typical life cycle for internal renewal initiative, 129–131 Course-of-action models, 504 classic models, 505–507 concept-based approach, 507–512
closing phase, 518
concept development phase, 512–516 implementation phase, 516–517 operations and use phase, 517–518 iterative development, 522–525 parallel streams model, 518–520
step-wise development and implementation, 520–521 timebox approach, 521–522
version stages, 522
Critical chain, 316, 677–678
Critical line, 316, 548, 688
Culture in the project group, evaluating, 607
Cyclogram, 681, 682
Daily morning meeting, 673
Deadline trend, 700, 701
Decision group, 19, 157–160
Decision makers, 73, 230, 232, 240–241, 623
Decision minutes, 599
Decision part of the project organization, 151, 155–160
Decision process, 616, 619–623
activities in, 621
decision model, 617
four basic ideas, 617–618
garbage-can model, 618–619
and limited rationality, 230–233
Decisions during the project, 116, 289, 482
Decision tree, 464, 466, 738, 741
Definitions of a project, 5
Delimitation strategy, 117
Delivery, types of, 733–735 Delivery of work
main delivery, 331
systems delivery, 331
technical/professional delivery, 331
Delivery projects, 135, 136, 142, 156, 157, 159, 170, 171, 173, 181, 297, 344, 393, 513, 520, 525
Design for value, 770–771
Design-to-cost (DTC) method, 308, 309, 771–772
Desirable properties, 78
Detailed planning, 121, 126, 469, 548
 of course of action, 127–129
Development conversations, 638–639
Development of project management, 383
  1970s – planning, 383–384
  1980s – organization, 384
  1990s – management, 385
  2000s – professionalism, 385–386
  2010s – multi-perspective leadership, 387 challenges for projects, 387 Development task, 212, 391, 747 Deviation report, 711–712
Disagreements, 239, 609–610, 611–614
 characterizing, 610 dealing with, 611–616
reasons for emotional tension, 611 Diversity, 429
Documentation, 302, 454
Documentation place, 690
Double-sided authority relationship, 592–593
Dreyfus & Dreyfus’ model, 37, 410, 411
Dulewitz and Higgs Company Model, 663
Elevator model, 234–235
“Embrace change”, principle of, 74
End-users, 20, 63, 225
Energy creators, 221
Energy killers, 221
Engagement interview, 588
Entrepreneur, 657
Entrepreneurial/business perspective, of project, 113
Entrepreneurial picture, 416, 417, 420
Environment, project. See Project environment Event logbook, 696
Expectation account, 328
Experience-based methods, 715, 716
Experience competency, 653
Explicit knowledge, 248–249
Explorative change strategy, 124
Explorative processes, 119
Externalizing, 248
Failure modes and effects analysis (FMEA), 772–775
Field of tensions, 10, 206, 208, 238–239, 243, 278
Financial control, 323–325
cost control, 327–329
financing the project, 329–330
project costs and budget, 325–327
First to do, 80–81
First to see, 80
First to think, 79–80

Five-by-five model, 6, 7, 96–97, 175, 237, 284, 469 of control functions, 489
detailed planning, 469
overall planning, 469
project environment, 10
project management, 11
circular working mode, 12–15
leading and managing the project, 11
learning, 12
master plan and course of action, 11–12 organization and collaboration, 12 points of attention, 12
project task, 8
content and extent of, 8
goals and products, 8
implied change, 8–9
need and benefit, 8
time frame, 9
resources, 11
as a scorecard, 713
stakeholders, 9–10

5C Model, 47, 207–209
“Fixed deadline-fixed price” contract, 138–139

Fixed price, 139, 331, 733
Formal start of the project, 136
Forming and defining the project, 427

analysis of interested parties, 433–441 analysis of uncertainty and risk, 456–467
project challenges, 427–432
project values and goals, 442–453
solution concept, 453–456

Forming the project, 75–77
Forward-oriented follow-up, 293–297
Forward reporting, 292
Free slack, 688

Functions, description of, 743–748 Function tree, 746, 747

Future of project management, 381
business development and value creation, 401–404
change management, 392–401
changing organizational forms
business processes, increased focus on, 391–392
project-working mode, 388, 390–391
silco companies or network companies, 389–390 learning and knowledge sharing, 404–408

Future situation, 30–32
Gantt chart, 547, 678–681, 684–685, 689, 699–700
Gap analysis, 743, 745
Garbage-can model, 618–619
Generalist project manager, 269–270
Globalization, 216, 691
Goal/point of departure, best practice as, 34–35 Goals, 8, 30, 49, 442–453, 713–714, 739, 754 benefit, 444–445, 452
  clear goal, 443
  common goals, 208, 443
  description of, 448–449
  implementation, 448 picture, 442–443
  process, 448
  product, 446–447
  strategy goals versus project goals, 367
  utility, 401
Goals/means tree, 739
Good teamwork, 602
  during, 606–608
  ending, 609
  start, 604
Good work plan, characteristics of, 674–675
Grant-funded projects, 329
Groupthink, 204
Group values, 244

Healthy food for pregnant women, 90–91
Hierarchical influence diagram, example of, 739
Holism and details, interplay between, 234
Holistic project planning, 124–125
Hospital catering system, 92–93
Humanistic change strategy, 124
Illustration methods, 685
Implementation goals, 448
Imposed effects, 306, 769–772
  design for value, 770–771
  design to cost (DTC), 771–772 life cycle cost (LCC), 769–770
  value analysis, 772
Inappropriate group culture, 205
Independent project organization, 149
Independent slack, 688
Individual learning, 249–250, 629
  and developing competencies, 630
Industry-based phase model, 117–118
Influence diagram, example of, 740
Influence tree, 738–739
Initiation part of a project, 134
Instability, 71, 429
Integrated project work, 212, 214
Integrated teamwork, 307
Integrator, 657
Intensive work patterns, 219 Interested parties, analysis of, 433–441 analysis of change, 438–439 analysis of tensions and coinciding interests, 439–440
coalition model, 434
identification of the parties, 435–436
position analysis, 436–438
sociogram, 440–441
Interface management, 21, 23, 462
Internal company development projects, 153, 271, 338–339, 340
Internalizing, 249
Internal renewal initiative, typical life cycle for, 129–131
IPMA (International Project Management Association), 35, 409, 422, 424–425
Iron triangle, 57
Issue management, 303, 694–695
Iterative approach, 118
deliveries for each stage, 118
development with solution experiments, 118–119.example of, 524
explorative processes, 119
principle of, 523
Joint competencies, 640
Joint decision-making, 347, 620
Joint venture and network, 193
Key performance indicators (KPIs), 397, 404
Knowledge database, 639 Knowledge sharing, 408, 637, 639 in competitive environment, 407–408
joint perception, 639
Kotter’s eight points in a change process, 123
Large projects, 415
Launch meetings, 596
“Lead by trust”, 274
Leadership, 253
competency requirements, 267–273 mastering paradoxes, 277–278 personal leadership, 264–267 project manager’s place in the organization, 278 project manager’s task, 257
basis for project management authority, 263–264
leadership versus administration, 262–263
many disciplines and coherence, 260–261
project management and change management, 261
top management, 273–277
Leading and managing the project, 11
Lean project management, 293
Lean thinking, 139–142
Management processes, 97, 106–107
Management report, 709–714
Management tasks, 48, 154, 266
Management triad, 401
Managerial grid, 660, 662
Managers of change, 171–172
Maneuverability, 48, 125, 137–139, 287–289
unexpected events and improvisation, 290
Man-hour consumption, 445, 720–721
Master plan and course of action, 11–12
Materials control, 322–323, 731–733
Matrix organization, 278
in new product development department, 593 in technical manufacturing company, 592
Maximum price, 735
Mechanistic organization, 187
Meeting minutes, 598–602
Meetings, 216–218, 595
control meetings, 597–598, 599
daily team meeting, 568
launch meetings, 596
meeting minutes, 598–602
work meetings, 595–596, 597
Mentor, 631
Method competencies, 652–653
Methodical risk analysis, 457–458
Micro-managing, 194
Milestone meeting, 670, 673–674
Milestone plan, 315, 543, 596, 700
Milestone report and deviation report, 711–712
Mission, 59, 79, 82–83
Mission determining the project, 82–83
Muddling through, 231
Multi-disciplinary cooperation, 214–215
Multiplicity, 70
Multi-project management, 335
Agile company development, 371
Agile projects, 375
framework for, 374-375
portfolio management, 376–377
resources, 377
myriad of development projects, 337–342
program and program management, 359–363
information system, 370–371
organizing, 367–370
program, preparation for, 363
strategy goals versus project goals, 367
strategy to projects, 364–367
project office, 378
competency center, 378–379
planning and control office, 378
projects organization in portfolio, 342–344
development portfolio, forming, 349–350
interrelationships among development projects, 344–345
orchestration forms, 356–357
planning and control of portfolio, 357–359
portfolio of development initiatives, prioritizing, 345 strategy and development projects, connection between, 354
Mutual interplay in the project organization, 189–190
Mutual problem solving, 614
Myers–Briggs type indicators, 83, 659
Necessary properties, 78, 521
Need orientation, 137
Negotiation logbook, 696
Neighbors and spectators, 229
Network companies, 389–390
Network planning, 547, 683–689
analysis of, 689
illustration methods, 685
process diagram, construction of, 685–687
schedule, calculating, 687–689
Network projects, 194
New business, developing, 94–95
Nice-to-have properties, 78, 447, 521
Norm-setting parties, cooperation with, 229
Opaqueness, 70, 428
Openness strategy, 116–117
Operating organization, adjoining with, 81
Operational organization, change capability in, 103–104
Opinion makers, 173–174
Opportunistic budget, 326
Opportunity orientation, 137
Optimistic budget, 325
Orchestration forms, 356–357
Organic organization, 187
Organigram, 581
Organization, project arranging, 577–583
basic pattern of, 579
as separate department, 593–594
Organizational forms, changing, 388
business processes, increased focus on, 391–392
project-working mode, 390–391
silo companies/network companies, 389–390 Organizational learning, 196, 594
   central elements in, 247
   individual and collective learning, 249–250 reflection and experimenting, 247–248 tacit and explicit knowledge, 248–249 knowledge-based systems and, 406–407
Organizational perspective, of project, 26–27, 113
Organizational picture, 416, 418, 420
Organization of operations, 63
Organization theory, 36, 39
Organization’s project competencies, 627–629
Organizing a project, 12, 145
   basic pattern, 151 decision part, 151, 155–160
   management part, 151, 153–155 working part, 151, 160–168
   cooperation on the project, 168
   anchorage in the user organization, 152, 170–174
   change management, 174
   management contribution, 152, 169–170
   professional contribution, 151, 169
   stakeholders and influence, 152, 174–179
   designing, 179
   development and adjustment of the project organization, 186–191 planning, 180–183
   trust and control, 183–186
   dismantling, 190–191
   supplementary organizational forms, 191
   competency organization, 196
   organizing parallel projects, 195–196
   project organization with several partners, 192–195
Ovalogram, 741
   example of, 742
   symbols and drawing rules for, 743
Overall planning, 469, 470, 471
Overall project head, 156, 158, 160
Paradoxes, mastering, 277–278
Parallel projects, organizing, 195–196 Participants, project, 163–168, 174 appointment of, 166–167
Partnering agreements, 331
Partners’ business interests, aligning, 403
PASS, 464
Payment account, 328
Performance measurement (PM), 704–709
Performance measurement system (PMS), 708
Permanent authority overlap, 592
Personal leadership, 264–267 competency, 264
Personal meeting minutes, 602
Persons, 63
Perspectives of project, 25, 33–34
business and entrepreneurial perspective, 26
organizational perspective, 26–27
political perspective, 27
technical perspective, 26
PERT planning method, 677, 682
Planning and control office, 378
Planning dilemma, 131–133
Planning events during the project, 125–127
Planning model, 469, 472–473 anchoring of project and plan, 488–489 approach and plan, 482 control and management, 488
forming the project, 481
interested parties around project and product, 476 organizing, manning, and cooperation, 483–484 planning points in project process, 470 planning process, 471–474
points of special attention, 486–487
project and product environment, 478 project background and mission, 474 resources, work effort, and economy, 485–486
See also Project planning
Planning workshop, 470, 553–556
Point-of-no-return, 114, 138
Points of attention, 12
Political activities to gain influence, 615
Political change strategy, 123
Political environment, projects in, 23, 39–41
environment, 24
project management, 24–25
project task, 24
resources, 24
stakeholders, 24
Political perspective, of project, 27, 114
Political picture, 416, 418, 420
Porter’s five forces model, 237
Portfolio, organizing projects in, 342 connection between strategy and development projects, 354 bottom-up planning, 355–356 top-down planning, 354–355
development portfolio, forming, 349–350
idea land, 353 principles for, 350–352
staging and organizing, 352–353 four approaches to prioritizing portfolio of development initiatives, 345 company situation, 348–349 development activities in competition, 346–347 dynamic coherence management, 347–348 explicit rules for selecting activities, 346 forming development activities in coherent clusters, 347
interrelationships among development projects, 344–345
management of development initiatives, 356–357
planning and control of portfolio, 357–359
Portrait of the project, 28, 415–421
entrepreneurial picture, 416, 417, 420
examples of, 419
four pictures of the project, 416 frame for, 419
organizational picture, 416, 418, 420
political picture, 416, 418, 420
technical picture, 416, 417, 420
Position analysis, 437–438
Position properties, 78
PPSOP model, 61–64, 62, 99, 455
Practice, broad basis for, 35–36
Predictable events, 67
Pregnant women, healthy food for, 90–91
Preoccupation with daily operations, 83–84
Price per delivered unit, 733
Price per resource unit, 735
PRINCE2, 422, 426
Problem interview, 631, 632
Problem logbook, 695–696
Problem matrix, 742–743, 745
Problems and needs, analysis of, 737–750
cause-and-effect diagram, 741
decision tree, 741
description of functions, 743–748
gap analysis, 743
goals/means tree, 739
influence tree, 738–739
ovalogram, 741
problem matrix, 742–743
relationship diagrams, 741
system concept, 748–750
    tree diagrams, 738
Problem-solving meetings, 217
Problem-solving processes, 231
Process diagram, construction of, 685–687
Processes, 96
    dealing with environment, 106
    management processes, 106–107
    related to application and operation of the project result, 105–106
    related to the project task, 97
    acceptance process, 101–102
    change capability in the operational organization, 103–104
    change process, 99–101
    necessary competencies, 102
    product/system process, 98–99
    resistance to change, 102, 103
    suitable stages, 104–105
    understanding, process of, 101
Process goals, 448
Procurement guidelines, 731–732
Producer, 656
Product and quality, control of, 304 imposed effects and value thinking, 306–309 need and solution, 304–305
quality management, 309–312
scope and configuration, 305–306
Product breakdown structure, 314
Product-determined phase model, 117 Product development projects, 156, 169 phase model for, 507
Product goals, 446–447
Production groups, introduction of, 93–94
Products, 61
Product/system process, 98–99
Product/system specification, 758–759
Profession, project management as, 408 competency development as step-wise process, 410–411 profession needs, 411–412
    shift of paradigm, 412–414
Professional contribution to the project organization, 151, 169
Program and program management, 359–363
    information sheets for, 380
    information system, 370–371
    organizing, 367–370
    preparation for program, 363
    strategy goals versus project goals, 367
strategy to projects, 364 rhythm of realization, 366–367 strategic readiness, 364–366
Program scorecard, 371
Progress curve, 701
Progress measurement, 697–704
Gantt chart, status in, 699–700 line of balance, 701–702 milestone plan, monitoring in, 700 percentage done, 698
progress curve, 701
trend curve, 700
valued step, 698
work done, 698
work effort and estimated remaining effort, 698
Project accounts, 727
Project administrators, 264
Project challenges, 427–432
analysis and prioritization of, 431
as a basis for planning, 428
description of project complexity, 430
points of special attention, 432
project conditions, 431
Project committee. See Decision group Project control, 281, 332–333 communication system, 301
documentation, 302
issue management, 303
project control file, 301–302
project info-room, 302
complex project, controlling, 297–299
contract management, 330–332
control functions and processes, 285
control of results, 303
product and quality, 304–310
utility value, 304
control task stems from uncertainty, 285–287
culture, 290–292
financial control, 323–325
cost control, 327–329
financing the project, 329–330
project costs and budget, 325–327
five-by-five project control model, 284
forward-oriented follow-up, 293–297
general control model, 294
good activity control, 291 Lean management, 293
maneuverability, 287–289
unexpected events and improvisation, 290
materials control, 322–323
project management reports, 297
project testimonial, 300–301
resource control, 319
consumption of supplies, 322
facilities and work conditions, 322
monitoring resource consumption, 321
resource planning, 319–321
time and work control, 312–314
monitoring progress, 316–317
scheduling, 315–316
speed, 317–319
work planning, 314
Project coordination tasks, 261
Project coordinators, 264
Project environment, 6, 9, 10
business development projects, 17
company and organizational development projects, 19
projects in a political environment, 24
technical oriented development projects, 22
technical oriented repetitive projects, 20
Project group
as a force field, 166
special characteristics of, 204 umbrella role for, 159–160
Project info-room, 302, 689–694
Project leader role, 643–651 behavior, 646–648
challenges for leading the team, 648
checklist for project leader selection, 647 delegation of tasks, 649
general role descriptions, 643–644 leading in a political milieu, 650
management areas, 644–646
measuring the project manager’s performance, 650–651 project manager’s contract, 648–649
requirements, 646
Project leader’s competency, 652–664
behavioral competency, 655–656
experience competency, 653
general behavioral models, 656–662 management and control competency, 653–655 match between project manager’s competency and style and the type of project, 662–664 Project leader’s plan, 665–668
Project management 2.0 systems, 693, 694
Project management body of knowledge (PMBOK), 409, 422, 653, 655
“Project management by manual”, 264
Project Management Institute (PMI), 35, 409, 422
Project management reports, 297
Project manager, 153–155, 160, 162, 163, 166 authority of, 263–264 career, 273
competence profile, 657 contract, 648–649, 651
focus areas, 259
personal performance, 650–651
required technical and professional competencies of, 272 requirements for, 269 role of, 255–256
task, 257
  basis for project management authority, 263–264
leadership versus administration, 262–263
many disciplines and coherence, 260–261
project management and change management, 261
Project objectives, 79
Project office, 378
  competency center, 378–379
  planning and control office, 378
Project organization, 3 arranging, 577–583
  basic pattern of, 151–168, 579
designing, 179–191
maturation, 239–244
as separate department, 593–594
stakeholders and influence in, 174–179
Project participants, 163–168, 174, 245, 339, 408
Project people’s competencies, 638–639
Project planning, 490, 492–494 dilemma of, 132
holistic, 124–125
model of, 126
project control file, 494–495
project owner’s project charter, 491–492
See also Planning model
Project portrait. See Portrait of the project
Project processes. See Processes
Project responsible manager, 223–224
Project room, 215–216
Project scorecard, 712–714
Project status report, 710–711
Project structure. See Structuring the project
Project task, 8, 56, 65, 97
  acceptance process, 101–102
  additional analyses, 74–75
  business development projects, 16–17
  change process, 99–101
company and organizational development projects, 18
complexity, 69
pro-active action against challenges, 72–74
content and extent of, 8, 56
four-perspective model, 65–66
goals and products, 8, 56–57
implied change, 8–9, 57
necessary competencies, 102
need and benefit, 9, 56
operational organization, change capability in, 103–104
product objectives, 61
PPSOP model, 61–64, 62
product/system process, 98–99
projects in a political environment, 24
resistance to change, 102, 103
structuring, 108–109 success criteria, 64–65
suitable stages, 104–105
technical oriented development projects, 22
technical oriented repetitive projects, 20
time frame, 9, 57
uncertainty, 66
chances and risks, 68–69
understanding, process of, 101
value creation, 57–60
Project team, manning, 583–588
Project team structure, 580
Project teamwork, 203, 302
Project values and goals, 442–453
benefit goals, 444–445
description of goals, 448–449 goal picture, 442–443
implementation goals, 448
measuring results, 451–452
process goals, 448
product goals, 446–447
value analysis, 449–451
Project-working mode, 3, 4, 5, 134, 390, 391
task orientation of, 29–30 “Pull forces”, 181
Pull principle, 123, 561
“Push forces”, 181
Push principle, 123
Quality assurance, 240–241, 310, 311–312, 759–765 actions, 763–764
activity plan, 759–763 review, 764–765
test, 765
Quality Function Deployment (QFD), 766–769
Quality management, 309–312, 762
Question-and-answer dialog, 13–14, 28
Realistic budget, 325
Recognition and learning, 79–81
Reference groups, 226–227
Relationship diagrams, 741
Renewal project, typical life cycle for, 130
Renewal project and change, relationships between, 394
Reports, 297
Requirement specification, 20, 559
Resistance to change, 102, 103
Resource control, 319, 715–721
capacity calculations, 719–720
consumption of supplies, 322
estimating resource effort, 715–718
facilities and work conditions, 322
monitoring resource consumption, 321
planning resource load, 718–719
resource planning, 319–321
time sheet, 720–721
Resource organization, cooperation with, 227–229
Resources, 11
business development projects, 17
company and organizational development projects, 19
projects in a political environment, 24
technical oriented development projects, 22
technical oriented repetitive projects, 20–21
Responsibility charts, 581–583, 584
Retelling minutes, 599
Rethinking project
management, 45–46, 387
Rethinking Project
Management movement, 58, 387
Review, 764–765
Risk breakdown structure (RBS), 461
Risk stones, 467, 566
Rolling work planning, 670–674
RPD method (research planning diagram), 464, 465–466
Schedule, calculating, 687–689
Scheduling, 315–316, 675–677, 682–683
Scorecard, 712–714
S-curve, 701
Secretaries, 264
Self-created complexity, 84–85
“Self-organized” project group, 164
Self-sustaining learning processes, 85–86
Shared pictures, creation of in workshops, 237
Shorthand minutes, 600
Short-term planning, 670
Silo companies, 389–390
Situational approach, basic models and, 32
Situational leadership, 257, 662
SMART model, 449
Socializing, 248
Sociogram, 440–441
“Soft” planning of a project, 13
Solution concept, 453–456
Special characteristics, of project management, 256
Spectrum of different projects, 25
Sponsor, 170–171
Stakeholder expectations, 64–65
Stakeholder involvement, 176 compromise strategy, 177 dominance strategy, 176–177 harmony strategy, 177 practical issues, 179 in the project organization, 177–178
Stakeholders, 9–10 analysis of, 433–441 business development projects, 17 company and organizational development projects, 19 projects in a political environment, 24 technical oriented development projects, 22 technical oriented repetitive projects, 20
Stakeholders and influence, 152, 174–179
Standard phase model, 119–122
Start of the project, 136
Start-up workshops, 216
Status report, 297, 709–714
Steering committee. See Decision group
Steering committee meetings, 241
Steering committee’s work patterns, 222–223
Steering meeting, 672
Strategy, projects and, 81–82
Structuring the project, 495 combining structures, 500–503 organizational affiliation, structuring, 498–500 physical/geographical structure, 498 in result functions, 496–497 in systems, 497–498
Structuring the project task, 161
Subcontracting, 212–214
Successive calculation, 723–725 example of, 724 formulas in, 723
Successive time planning, 683
Sunk costs, 328
Supplementary organizational forms, 191 competency organization, 196

Index 813
organizing parallel projects, 195–196
project organization with several partners, 192–195
Supplementary organizational units, 153
Supplier and customer aspects, balance between, 158–159
Suppliers and consultants, 167–168
Support functions, 155
SWOT analysis, 463
System concept, 748–750
Systems, 62–63
System thinking, 748–750
Tacit knowledge, 248–249
Task orientation of project-working mode, 29–30
Teacher, 631
Team, empowering, 274–275
Teambuilding, 604, 605
Teamwork issues, 605
Technical equipment, delivery of, 91–92
Technical logbook, 697
Technical opinion makers, 173
Technical oriented development projects, 21
environment, 22
project management, 23
project task, 22
resources, 22
stakeholders, 22
Technical oriented repetitive projects, 19
environment, 20
project management, 21
project task, 20
resources, 20–21
stakeholders, 20
Technical perspective, of project, 26, 27, 112
Technical picture, 416, 417, 420
Technical—rational change strategy, 123
Technical skill, 272
Temporary authority overlap, 591–592
Tensions, 70, 429, 439
Test, 765
Theater performance, creating, 95–96
The British Association for Project Management, 422
“The project portrait”, 428
Time and work control, 312–314
monitoring progress, 316–317
scheduling, 315–316
speed, 317–319
work planning, 314
Timebox, 319, 521–522
Time calculation in process diagram, 688
Time control, 669–683
Time-out evaluation, 633
Time schedule, characteristics of, 674–675
Time sheet, 720–721
Time-to-market, 44
Timing, 266
Top-down planning strategy, 354–355
Top management, 198–199, 273–277
Total slack, 688
Transformation matrix, 364
Tree diagrams, 738
Trend curve, 700
Types of project, 16, 137, 387

Uncertainty, consequences of, 68
Uncertainty and complexity, reactions to, 83–86
complexity syndrome, 84
preoccupation with daily operations, 83–84
self-created complexity, 84–85
self-sustaining learning processes, 85–86
Uncertainty and risk, analysis of, 456–467
action plan, 464, 467
causes of uncertainty, 461–463 dealing with the uncertainties, 459–461
decision tree, 464, 466
finding the uncertainties, 459
methodical risk analysis, 457–458
RPD method (research planning diagram), 464, 465–466
sorting uncertainties, 460
SWOT analysis, 463
what–if plan, 463–464
Understanding, process of, 101
Unforeseeable events, 67
User representatives, 165
Users, cooperation with, 224–227
Users on board, 562–563
Utility goals, 79, 401
Utility values, 59–60 and benefits, 756–758
control of, 304
Value-adding, 340
Value analysis, 449–451, 772
Value creation, 57–61
business development and, 401–404
in political environment, 37 emphasis on creating value and utility, 38 implementation, including, 38 task as a unified whole, 38–39 time limitation, 39
portfolio management’s attention toward, 358
Value of work done, 701
Virtual project organization, 216
Vision, 79
Visioneering, 402
Visualization and experience, 236–237
Week plan, 667
What–if plan, 463–464
Wikis, 693
Work breakdown structure (WBS), 109, 314
Work done, 698, 701
Work effort and estimated remaining effort, 698
Work groups, interfaces between, 211
Working and business processes, 61–62
Working groups, 161, 405
Working part of the project organization, 151, 160–168
Work intensity, 218–222
Work meetings, 573, 595–596, 597
Work patterns, 209–215, 222–223
Work planning, 314, 667, 670, 671
Works council, 227