

Index

- Action-oriented symbols, 14
- Activism, social movements and protest, 1
- Aganaktismenoi, 4, 100, 182, 183
- Age, Internet and social engagement, 56
- American-Greek international relations, 43–44
- ‘American military imperialism’, 43
- Analytical tools, 70–76
- semantic analysis (Twitter), 75–76
 - social network analysis (Facebook and Twitter), 72–74
 - thematic analysis (Indymedia and YouTube), 70–71
- Antagonism of capitalism, 31
- Antagonistic campaigns, 131–132, 175, 184
- Anti-ACTA campaign, 120–121
- Anti-austerity, 11, 19
- campaign, 185–186
 - discourse, 175
 - politics, 174
 - protests, 68–69, 170–171
- #antiausterity, 143, 144
- Anti-austerity mobilisation, 63, 134–135, 136–137, 142, 170–171
- Anti-austerity movement, 2, 4, 68–69, 182, 184
- Aganaktismenoi, 4, 182, 183
- graphs statistics, 110–113
 - Greek Indignados/
Aganaktismenoi, 97–104, 114–123
 - methods, sampling and analysis, 108–110
 - SYRIZA online diaspora, 104–108, 123–129
 - See also* Greek Indignados/
Aganaktismenoi;
SYRIZA online diaspora
- #anti-austerity network, 142, 143–144
- #antiausterity Semantic Network, 145
- Anti-authoritarian movements, 19
- Anti-capitalist movements, 11, 21–22, 184
- and anti-war movements, 44
- Anti-capitalist protests of 2010, 80
- Anti-capitalist struggle, 43
- Anti-communist state, 41–42
- Anti-fascist movements, 19
- Anti-globalisation movements, 11, 12, 21–22, 29, 30–31, 181
- Anti-Golden Dawn pages, 125–126
- Anti-/pro-austerity discourse, 32
- Anti-/pro-European discourse, 189
- Anti-/pro-governmental discourse, 32

- Anti-rape movement in India (2016), 10
- Anti-surveillance, 120
- Anti-war and anti-globalisation movements, 19
- Arab Spring, 3, 12
- Armed Forces Channels, 48–49
- Armed Forces Information Service (YENED), 48–49
- Article 16, Hellenic Constitution, 81
- Atenistas, hipster-type pop culture phenomenon, 120–121
- Athens Polytechnic, 41
- Athens, radio stations in, 51
- #austerity, 143, 144
- Austerity and neoliberalism, 126
- Austerity politics, 147–148, 184
- #austerity Semantic Network, 146
- #austerity vs #antiausterity, 142–145
- Authoritarianism of the educational system, 40

- Bankruptcy in Greece, 98
- Battle of Athens, 45
- Blogs, 59
- Boko Haram in Nigeria, 10
- Broadcast Network, 152–153

- Cambridge Analytica case, 2
- Capitalism, 30, 44–45, 180
- Capitalistic colonisation, 28–29
- Capitalist restriction, 80
- CCF (Conspiracy of Cells of Fire), 44
- Celebrity culture, 61
- Chi (X) Party, 45–46
- Civil rights-related movements, 19
- Civil society and political groups, 51–52
- Classic collective action, 25
- ‘Class-struggle essentialism’, 30
- Clause-Newman-Moore algorithm, 133, 150, 167
- Clientelism, 117–118
- Collective actions, 97–98
 - defined, 13
 - and mobilisation, 12–13
 - processes, 23–24
 - and social movements, 12–13, 17
- Collective behaviour, 20–21
- Collective enterprises, 15–16
- Collective identity, 18
- Collective ventures, 13–14
- Collectivities of individuals, 16
- Communication and society, democratisation, 1
- Communicative capacity, 23, 25
- Communism and anti-communism, 41
- Communism/Eurocommunism, 124–125
- Communist Party (KKE), 34
- Communist peril, 45–46, 48–49, 135, 176
- Community-based structure, 25
- Community Cluster, 152–153
- Comprehensive policy programme, 37–38
- Computer-mediated conflict, 11
- Computer-mediated environments, 9–10
- Conflict-based collective actions, 13–14
- Constitution Square, 101
- Contemporary capitalism, 28, 30–31
- Contemporary digital era, 31
- Contemporary political identities, 40
- Contemporary social movements, 4, 23

- Contemporary sociopolitical structure, 91
- Contentious politics, 12–13, 14
- ‘Coordinating and organisational tools’, 79–80
- Corruption, 117–118
- Corruption-related political scandals, 36–37
- Cosmopolitanism, 17
- Creative resistance, 118, 189–190
- Crisis and media, 3–4
- Cultural reproduction, 19
- Cyber-activism, 53
- Cyberconflict and digital media
 - connective action and employing, 9–12
 - digital media theory and globalisation, 27–32
 - social movement theories (SMT), 12–27
 - collective vs connective actions, 23–27
 - new social movement (NSM), 17–20
 - resource mobilisation theory (RMT), 20–22
- Cyberconflict approach, digital media in Greece, 5
- activism, social movements and protest, 1
- anti-austerity movement, 2
- Arab Spring, 3
- Cambridge Analytica case, 2
- communication and society, democratisation, 1
- debt crisis, 2–3
- digital activism, 1
- ‘digital divide’ argument, 1
- Facebook Scandals, 2
- FLOSS movement, 1
- global recession, 2–4
- identity, community and networks, 1
- inequality, 1
- Internet culture, 1
- Internet optimism, 1
- OWS (Occupy Wall Street) in the US, 2
- privacy and surveillance, 1
- project, 5–7
- self-representations, 1
- Cyberconflict theory, 4–5, 10, 64, 84, 180, 190–191
- framework, 5
- social movement component, 12
- Cyber-utopianism, 28
- Debt crisis, 2–3
- December Riots (2008), 33, 37, 44, 63, 71, 179–180
- and data collection, 6–7
- Indymedia in, 85–88
- methods, sampling, and analysis, 82–84
- online media, 181
- sociopolitical and historical characteristics, 79–82
- sociopolitical cyberconflict, 181–182
- and YouTube, 88–93
- Democratic function, 4
- Democratic illusion, 29–30
- Democratisation, 12
- De-radicalisation, 27
- Digital activism, 1
- Digital communications, 53, 55, 59, 60
- digital activism and Greek political environment, 60–62
- Digital divide, 3–4, 56, 57–58, 60
- argument, 1

- Digital media, 61
 - crisis, 68–70
 - environment, 3–4
 - and online data, 25–26
 - platforms, 9–10, 68–70
 - political and social
 - mobilisations, 9
 - theory and globalisation, 27–32
 - usage, 80
- Digital research methods
 - adaptation, 65
 - ‘mechanical objectivity’, 67
 - multi-platforms embedded in
 - the Internet, 65
 - networks and discourse, 65
 - NodeXL, 66–67
 - objectivity, 67
 - online and offline space, 65
 - online communication systems, 65
 - online data, study and analysis, 65–66
 - online phenomena, 66–67
 - stage and application, 68
 - use, 66
 - visualisation and power of
 - visual evidence, 67–68
- Digital social networks, 23
- Digital Terrestrial Television, 52
- Diversity and networks, 23–24
- ‘Dominant capitalist
 - communication’, 9
- Economic crisis, 118–119
- E-contentious politics, 24
- E-democracy, 27–28
- E-exclusion, 56
- ELA (Revolutionary Popular
 - Struggle), 42–43
- Environment of conflict and
 - conflict mapping, 11
- Ethnoreligious cyberconflict,
 - 11–12, 181–182
- Ethnoreligious-driven
 - polarisation, 27
- Ethos of diversity and
 - inclusiveness, 23–24
- EU dissolution, 174
- European and international
 - mobilisation, 126
- European Common Market, 34
- Extra-parliamentary left and
 - revolutionary groups, 41–45
- Facebook, 4, 57–58, 59, 68–69, 77, 182
 - collective based orientation, 183–184
 - scandals, 2
 - social networking service, 77
- Far-right in Greece, 45–47
- FLOSS movement, 1
- Free Gaza, 120–121
- Free market, 49
- Free Palestine, 120–121
- ‘G700’, 91
- General Confederation of
 - Workers of Greece (GSEE), 40–41
- Gephi, 74, 110
- Global citizen, 28–29
- Global economic crisis and
 - neoliberalism, 23–24
- Globalisation, 9, 30, 180
- Global recession, 2–4, 29–30, 31, 37, 38–39, 80–81
- Golden Dawn, neo-Nazi party, 38, 63
- Greek anti-terrorism law, 43–44
- ‘Greek crisis’, 37–39
- #greekcrisis, 171

- Greek Cyber Crime Unit,
119–120
- Greek digital communication, 53
- Greek Economy, 98
- Greek Indignados/
 Aganaktismenoi
 ‘democratic politics’, 103
 digital media representations, 103
 graphs statistics, 110–113
 international solidarity network, 103
 media representations, 103
 network analysis, 114–123
 Arab Spring revolutions, 117
 Group 1, 114
 Group 2, 114–115
 Group 3, 115
 Group 5, 115–117
 Group 7, 115–117
 Group 8, 115–117
 Group 9, 115–117
 polarisation, 122–123
 sociopolitical and historical characteristics, 97–104 transnational debates and movements, 122–123
- Greek Indignados case, 4, 68–69, 100
- Greek Labour Movement, 40–41
- Greek leftish terrorism, 43
- Greek mediascape, 47–53
 traditional media, 47–53
- Greek media sector, 49–50
- Greekness and economic crisis’,
118–119
- Greek Parliamentary Elections, 39
- Greek political system, 33–34
- Greek Referendum. See
 Greferendum
- ‘300 Greeks’, 101–102
- ‘Greek tragedy’, 37–38
- Greek Youth Movement,
80–81
- Greferendum, 6–7, 68–69,
73–74, 131–132,
163–164, 172, 184
- Bailout Expiration Semantic
 Network, 173
- #menoumeevropi vs #oxi,
134–175
- #austerity vs #antiausterity,
142–145
- campaigns discourse
 evolution, 150–166
- #greferendum, 167–175
- #menoumeevropi and #oxi,
150–166
- #nai vs #oxi campaign,
145–150
- #syntagma and #17junegr,
137–142
- methods, sampling and analysis, 131–134
- Referendum Semantic
 Network, 174
- #greferendum, 167–175
- #grexit, 149
- Grexit, 38, 173, 175, 185
- Hastags. See Greferendum
- Hellenic Radio Foundation (EIR),
48–49
- Hellenic Radio Television, 49
- Hellenic Telecommunications
 Organisation (OTE), 55
- Historical and sociopolitical
 background
 Greek mediascape, 47–53
 mainstream politics and political parties,
 33–39
 new and online media,
 development, 53–62

- social movements, far right and left, 39–47
- extra-parliamentary left and revolutionary groups, 41–45
- far-right in Greece, 45–47
- student and labour movement in Greece, 39–41

- Identity, community and networks, 1
- Identity-oriented paradigm, 12–13
- ‘Ill-planned’ deregulation, 50–51
- Imperialism, 44–45
- Income rating and employment sector, 56
- Indignados movement, 99
 - in Spain, 99
- Individuals and civic organisations, 24
- Indymedia, 4, 69–70, 77–78
 - in December Riots (2008), 85–88, 179–180
 - political and movement-oriented discussion, 181
 - politicised people and activists, 183–184
- Inequalities, 1, 81–82
- Information and Communication Technology (ICT), 22
- Information and culture, privatisation, 9
- Information media society, 19
- Intellectual class struggle, 31
- International anti-globalisation, 182
- International global justice, 120
- International Momentary Fund (IMF), 37–38

- Internet
 - culture, 1
 - dystopia and technophobia, 120
 - as a medium, 11
 - as ‘network of networks’, 25
 - optimism, 1
 - as resource for mobilisation, 21–22
- Internet-centrism, 28

- #17junegr, 137
- #17junegr Semantic Network, 142

- Kaltezas case, 86–87
- Karamanlis, Konstantinos, 34
- Kleptocracy, 117–118

- LAOS (Popular Orthodox Rally), 37
- ‘Lazy-Greeks’ narration, 131
- LinkedIn, 57–58, 59

- Macedonian issue, 46–47
- Mainstream politics and political parties, 33–39
- Marfin Bank, 98–99
- ‘Mechanics of collective action’, 19–20
- Media dynamics, 85
- Media sector, privatisation, 49–50
- Mega Channel, online and mainstream media, 83–84
- MEND in Nigeria (2016), 10
- #menoumeevropi, 152
 - Bailout Expiration Semantic Network, 159
 - and #oxi, 150–166
- Menoume Evropi campaign, 135
- #Menoumeevropi Post-Referendum Semantic Network, 165

- #Menoumeevropi Referendum
Eve Semantic Network, 162
- #Menoumeevropi Social Network, 153
- #menoumeevropi vs #oxi, 134–175
- #austerity vs #antiausterity, 142–145
- campaigns discourse evolution, 150–166
- #greferendum, 167–175
- hashtags #syntagma and #17junegr, 137–142
- #menoumeevropi and #oxi, 150–166
- #nai vs #oxi campaign, 145–150
- #syntagma and #17junegr, 137–142
- Metapolitefsi (fall of the Junta), 33–39
- ‘Minimum collective identity’, 100
- Mobilisations, 97–98
- Money laundering, 162–163
- Multidimensional ‘crisis’, 2–3
- Multi-party democracy, 33–34
- #Nai, Semantic Network, 150
- #nai vs #oxi campaign, 145–150
- #nai vs #oxi Social Networks, 147
- National anti-corruption narrative, 184
- National Broadcasting Council (NBC), 49
- National Council for Radio and Television (NCRT), 52
- National Guard, 45–46
- National identity, 28–29
- National Intelligence Service (EYP), 106–107
- Nationalistic-oriented ideology, 120
- National Liberation Front (EAM), 45
- National Political Union, 45–46
- National Statistical Service of Greece (EL.STAT.), 53, 55–56
- National Student Novelty, 46
- NCapture, 77–78, 85
and Chrome, 84
- Neo-fascist groups, 40–41, 46
- Neoliberal capitalist system, 90–91
- Neoliberal ideologies and policies, 81
- Neoliberalism, 29–30, 44–45, 80, 147–148
and financialisation, 35
- Neoliberal state and society, 29–30
- Netvizz, 74, 77, 108–109, 110
- Networked Power, 72–73
- Networked social movements, 23
- ‘Networking and organising tool’, 99
- Network-making Power, 72–73
- Network of Trade Unionists, 105
- Network Power, 72–73
- New and online media, development, 53–62
- New Democracy (ND), 34
- ‘New middle class’ argument, 19
- New social movement (NSM), 11, 17–20
- ‘New World Order to Terrorism International’, 44–45

- NodeXL, 74, 76–77, 133
- Non-hierarchical protest networks, 30–31
- NVivo, 77–78, 85
- Observatory for Digital Greece (ODG), 53
- Online discourse, 4, 97–98, 109–110
- Online media environment, 83–84, 85, 189
- Online mediated conflict, 5–6, 9–10
- Online mobilisation and radicalisation, 27, 29–30
- Online poster and online community, 62
- Online relationships and coalitions, 97–98
- Online social networks, 25
- ‘Order of dissent’, 12
- Ousting of dictatorial and corrupt regimes, 12
- OWS (Occupy Wall Street) in the US, 2
- #Oxi Bailout Expiration Semantic Network, 160
- ‘Oxi’ campaign, 135
- #Oxi Post-Referendum Semantic Network, 166
- #Oxi Referendum Eve Semantic Network, 163
- #Oxi Semantic Network, 151
- #Oxi Social Network, 154
- #oxi vs #menoumeevropi, 131–132
- Paisios case, 119–120
- PAK (Pan-Hellenic Liberation Movements), 42–43
- Panathinaikon Nazi-Organisation, 46–47
- Pan-Hellenic Socialist Movement (PASOK), 34, 42–43
- leadership, 35–36
- right wing and anti-right-wing forces, 35–36
- socialist government of, 49
- ‘The money exists’, 35–36
- ‘third road to socialism’, 35–36
- Parakratos (para-state), 45–46
- Parisian May of ’68, 80
- Paris Riots (2005), 80
- Parnitha wildfires protests, 79–80
- PASOK. See Pan-Hellenic Socialist Movement (PASOK)
- ‘PASOK’s Monopoly Ends’, 35
- Peer-to-peer services, 56
- Personalised politics, 23–24, 190–191
- Political consciousness, 26
- Political consumerism, 24
- Political opportunity structure, 11
- Political-oriented terrorist movement, 41–42
- Political parties, communication and voting, 3–4
- Political persecution, 41
- Political pluralism, 40
- Political polarisation, 187–188
- Political pragmatism, 35
- Political utopianism, 43
- Political violence, 42
- Political weapons, 53
- Politicisation of terrorism, 43
- ‘Politics of extreme’, 182–183
- Politics of fear, 131–132
- Post-Fordism, 30
- Post-Fordist society, 29–30
- Post-industrial capitalism, 12–13, 17

- Poverty, 3–4
- Power types, 72–73
- Pre-dictatorship period, 33–34
- Pre-dominant-modes of access on resources, 20
- Pre-social media era, 30–31
 - events, 5–6
- Press Project, 154
- Privacy and surveillance, 1
- Pro-/anti-austerity, 140
 - campaign, 185
 - debate, 177
 - discourse online, 185
- Prokopakis, G., 135
- Pro-SYRIZA mobilisations, 142
- Protests and conflict, 14–15
- Public Broadcast Corporation (ERT), 51, 52
- Public spaces, 14–15

- Radical communist utopianism, 41–42
- Radicalisation, 27
 - and violence, 3
- Radical-Marxist party, 34
- Radical political activism, 90
- Radio broadcasting, 48
- RageTMGr channel, 84
- Real-time communication, 132–133
- Red Terror, 45–46
- Referendum announcement network, 167
- Resistance and solidarity networks, 3–4
- Resource distribution and social struggles, 31
- Resource Mobilisation Theory (RMT), 11, 12–13, 20–22
 - features, 20–21
- Restoration of stability, 20–21
- Revolutionary Struggle (RS), 44

- Schlarman, Josef, 162
- Seattle protests, 181
- Security services impact on terrorism, 43
- Semantic analysis (Twitter), 75–76, 175
- Semantic networks, 144–145
- Semi and crypto-hierarchies, 188
- Semi-mainstream politics, 182–183
- 17 November (Revolutionary Organisation 17 November/17N), 42–43
- Shared beliefs and solidarity, 14–15
- Short Messages Service (SMS), 60
- ‘Silence or we will awaken the Greeks!’, 99–100
- Skype, 56
- SMT. See Social movement theories (SMT)
- ‘Snowball effect’, 61–62
- Social change goals, 20
- Social conflict, 12–13
- Social constructivistic approaches, 22
- Social economy and extraparliamentary politics, 118
- Social exclusion, 3–4
- Social integration, 19
- Socialisation, 19, 23–24
- Social media platforms, 57–59
- Social movements, 13–14, 15, 39–47
 - and collective actions, 186–187
 - as collective enterprises, 14–15
 - decode structural procedures of, 20

- extra-parliamentary left and revolutionary groups, 41–45
- far-right in Greece, 45–47
- organization of, 15, 16
- student and labour movement in Greece, 39–41
- Social movement theories (SMT), 5–6, 12–27
 - collective vs connective actions, 23–27
 - new social movement (NSM), 17–20
 - resource mobilisation theory (RMT), 20–22
- Social Network Analysis (SNA), 4, 64, 72–74
 - approach, 108
 - Facebook and Twitter, 72–74
- Social networks, 26, 175
 - online networks, 26–27
 - ‘structural-connection function’, 26–27
- Social technology, 23
- Sociopolitical cyberconflict, 11, 180
- Solidarity Water Europe, 125–126
- Spanish Indignados (M15), 100
- Spanish media, 147
- State violence, 86–87
- Strategy Curriculum on the Referendum*, 164–165
- Student and labour movement in Greece, 39–41
- Student mobilisations, 81
- Subject-object dialectic, 31
- ‘Super-power bad’, 120
- Surveillance, 3–4
- SYNASPISMOS, 34, 37, 104–105
- #syntagma and #17junegr, 131–132, 133–134, 137–142
- #Syntagma Semantic Network, 141
- Syntagma Square in Athens, 99–100, 101
- SYRIZA, 38, 63, 135, 141, 166, 175, 187
- SYRIZA network, 182–183
 - pre-elections campaign of 2012, 183
- SYRIZA online diaspora, 6–7
 - anti-capitalist and anti-war movements, 128
 - anti-fascist movement linkages, 128
 - civil society actors, 128
 - data, 69–70
 - environmental mobilisations, 128
 - EU crisis, evolution, 128
 - graphs statistics, 110–113
 - grassroots mobilisation, 128
 - page-like network, 123–129
 - Group 1, 125–126
 - Group 2, 125
 - Group 3, 124–125
 - Group 4, 126
 - Group 10, 124
 - Group 20, 124
 - network and sub-networks, structure, 127
 - pre-election campaigns, 126
 - Solidarity Water Europe, 125–126
 - upper part, 127–128
 - sociopolitical and historical characteristics, 104–108
 - solidarity initiatives, 128
- Tahir Square movement, 100
- Tax evasion, 162–163
- ‘Technical mission to Athens’, 98
- Temporary public spaces, 14
- Thematic analysis (Indymedia and YouTube), 70–71

- Thematic and semantic analysis, 64
- Thematising meanings,
 identification,
 70–71
- Traditional media, 47–53
- Transparency movements, 120
- Triple crisis of western capitalism, 31
- Troika, 37–38, 98–99, 134
- Truth Team campaign, 106–107,
 135
- Tweets, 133
- Twitter, 77, 175
 real-time data collection, 69–70
- Unemployment, 3–4, 41
- United Nationalist Movement, 46
- United Nations Human Rights,
 154–155
- ‘Vocabulary of economics’, 20, 21
- Vodafone Case, 37
- Voulpiotis, I., 48
- White Terror, 45–46
- Wireless communication, 23
- World Social Forum, 102
- World Wide Web (WWW), 57
- YouTube, 4, 57–59, 69–70,
 77–78
 and December Riots (2008),
 88–93, 179–180
 politicised people and activists,
 183–184
- #yovoycongregia, 170
- ZeroHedge, 155–156
- ‘Zero level’ protests, 30