

Index

- Acculturation lag, 56
- Advanced cities, 74
- Agglomeration, 73
- Assisted returnee entrepreneurs, 152
- Assisted Voluntary Return and Reintegration (AVRR), 152, 156
- Assisted Voluntary Return program (AVR program), 156
- Asylum, Migration, and Integration Fund (AMIF), 157

- Brain waste, 77
- Business support initiatives, 183

- Class resources, 56
- Context-level
  - antecedents, 23, 29
  - outcomes, 23, 30
  - processes, 23, 29–30
- Cultural attributes, 78–79

- Decision-making, 61
- Decreto Crescita 2.0*. See Law Decree 179/2012

- Entrepreneurial
  - dynamics in cities, 73–74
  - internationalization, 116–117
  - opportunities, 71
- Entrepreneurial ecosystems, 77–79
  - contextualizing migrant entrepreneurship, 79–103
  - migrant entrepreneurship in cities, 72–79, 93–98
  - policy implications, 101–103
  - theoretical implications and future research opportunities, 98–101
- Entrepreneurs, 5, 116–117
  - country of origin and nationality, 148–149
- Entrepreneurship, 4, 184
  - by assisted return migrants, 154–156
  - scholarship, 71
  - studies, 152
  - variation across regions, 72–74
- Environmental contingencies and constraints, 61
- Ethnic exceptionalism, 56–58
- Ethnic resources, 56–57
- Ethnographic method, 182
- European Digital City Index (EDCI), 95
- Expressive entrepreneurship, 25

- Fast-track entry procedure, 101–102

- Firm-level
  - antecedents, 22, 27
  - outcomes, 23, 28–29
  - processes, 22, 27–28
- Firm-level resources for migrant entrepreneurs
  - identifying new research avenues, 61–63
  - individual and firm resources for migrant entrepreneurship, 56–58
  - theoretical concepts, 63–65
  - theories from management studies, 58–61
- Full-time equivalent (FTE), 88–89, 93

- Human capital, 75
- Human mobility, 96
- Human resource management (HR management), 28
- Immigrants, 1–4
- Individual and firm resources for migrant entrepreneurship, 56–58
- Individual level
  - antecedents, 17–19, 24–25
  - outcomes, 22, 26–27
  - processes, 19–22, 25–26
- Innovation, 59
- Innovative policy solutions, 184
- Innovative SMEs, 92–93, 114
- Innovative start-ups, 82–93, 112
- Intention(s), 118
  - intention-behavior relationship, 118–120
  - internationalization, 123
- Interactive model, 57
- International entrepreneurship, 116–117
- International Organization for Migration (IOM), 156
- Internationalization
  - behaviors, 124, 132–138
  - cognitive antecedents, 120
  - data collection, 123
  - intentions, 129–132, 134–138
  - measurement, 123–124
  - method, 124–127
  - of migrants' ventures, 32
  - patterns of migrant and non-migrant entrepreneurs, 115
  - research design, 121–127
  - sample description, 127–129
  - sample selection and attrition, 121–122
  - theoretical background, 117–120
- Involuntary returnees, 151–152
- Italia Startup Visa program (ISV program), 89–92, 112–113
- Italian industrial districts, 99
- Italian labor market, 3–4
- Knowledge
  - knowledge-based entrepreneurial opportunities, 77–78
  - spillover theory of entrepreneurship, 72–73
  - variation across regions, 72–74
- Labor market integration for immigrants, 2
- Law Decree 179/2012, 82
- Local authorities, 96
- Local entrepreneurial ecosystem, 100–101
- Localization economies, 73–74
- Macro levels of analysis, 180
- Management scholars, 179–180
- Material attributes, 78–79
- Meso levels of analysis, 180
- Micro levels of analysis, 180
- Migrant entrepreneurs, 4, 25, 115, 120
  - minorities, 32–33, 182
- Migrant entrepreneurship. See also Returnee entrepreneurship, 2, 3, 4, 11, 71–72, 179
  - in cities, 72–79
  - criteria for exclusion of irrelevant articles, 13–14
  - data collection, 12–14
  - descriptive highlights, 14–15
  - disciplinary area of published articles, 17
  - disciplines, 24–31
  - findings from analysis of abstracts, 15–31
  - individual and firm resources for, 56–58
  - in Italy, 79–82

- journals for number of published articles, 16
- knowledge and entrepreneurship variation across regions, 72–74
- management, 17–24
- measurement, 5
- policy and practice considerations, 182–185
- review methodology, 12–14
- study of, 4, 181
- theoretical considerations, 179–182
- urban contexts and, 74–77
- Milan city, 81, 93–98
- “Mixed embeddedness” approach, 57, 75–76
- Mobilization of resources, 25–26
- Multiculturally hybrid companies, 184
- Nascent entrepreneurship. See also Migrant entrepreneurship, 155–156
  - decisions, 165–166, 177–178
- Native entrepreneurs, 184
- New technology-based firms (NTBFs), 121
- “Non-entrepreneurship-technical” language, 97–98
- Non-management scholars, 179–180
- Nongovernmental organizations (NGOs), 156
- Opportunity structure, 75
- Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), 1
- “Particularistic” approach, 97–98
- Penrose’s theory, 58–59
- Perceived behavioral control (PBC), 118
- Place-bounded entrepreneurial opportunities, 98
- Policymakers, 1, 101–103, 183–184
- Pre-internationalization phase, 118
- Probit regression of probability, 176
- Regional systems of entrepreneurship, 77–78
- Research and development (R&D), 77–78
- Resource dependence perspective, 60–63
- Resource-based view (RBV), 59–60, 62
- Return migration, 156–157, 169
  - determinants of, 153–154
- Returnee entrepreneurs, 151
- Returnee entrepreneurship
  - data collection, 157
  - literature review, 153–156
  - measurement, 161
  - method, 161–165
  - methodology, 156–165
  - nascent entrepreneurship decisions, 165–166
  - reintegration outcomes in home country, 166–169
  - research background, 156–157
  - results, 165–169
  - sample descriptives, 158–161
- Self-employed immigrants, 2
- Self-employment, 3–4
- Small and medium enterprises (SMEs), 82–93, 141–142
- Social attributes, 78–79
- “Social inclusion” approach, 97–98
- Structuration theory, 181
- Super-diversity, 75
  - in migrant population, 100–101
  - of migrant populations and enterprises, 181–182
- Theory of planned behavior (TPB), 118
- Theory of the Growth of the Firm, The* (Penrose), 66

Transnational

    entrepreneurship, 115–116

Transnationalism, 115

Transversal themes, 24, 30–31

Urban contexts, 74–77

Urbanization economies, 73–74

vacancy-chain openings, 59

Vacancy-chain businesses, 75–76

Voluntary returns, 156–157

Web of Science Core Collection, 12