

INDEX

- Active communication strategies, 44
- Advertising capabilities execution, 126
- Affective commitment, 11
- Agri-food distribution, trust in
 - as an antecedent to high customer loyalty, 108–109
 - in B-to-B relationships, 105–106
 - customer loyalty, 107–108
 - data analysis, 110–111
 - data collection and sample, 110
 - discussion and implications, 113–115
 - hypotheses, 109
 - limitations and future work, 115
 - measurement reliability and validity, 111–112
 - measures scales, 111
 - operational measures, 110
 - testing hypotheses, 112–113
- Agri-food industries, 4
- Alibaba, 45
- American Chamber of Commerce, 19–20
- Antecedents, 12–19
- Attitude, 107
- Attitudinal loyalty, 107–108
- Augmenting transparency, 94
- Average variance extracted (AVE), 22, 111–112

- Behavioral loyalty, 108, 114
- Behavioral trust, 10
- Benevolence, 93–94, 106
- Bidirectional communication flow, 16
- Bootstrapping, 23
- Brand relationships, 8
- Brazilian-American Chambers of Commerce, 19–20

- B-to-C firms, 132
- Business networks, 1–2
- Business performance, 149
- Business-to-business (B-to-B)
 - electronic commerce, 1–2, 38
 - firms, 132
 - marketing, 1–2
 - relationships, 10
 - service systems, 54
 - trust in, 105–106
 - benevolence, 106
 - credibility, 106
 - in industrial markets, 105–106
 - interpersonal, 91
- Buyers, 40
 - prediction comfort, 14
- Buyer – supplier relationships, 2–3, 10–11, 97
- Buying process, 55–56

- Calculative trusting bases, 42–43, 47
- Capabilities, 124–126
 - implementation, 149
 - inside-out, 124–126
 - outside-in, 124–126
 - spanning, 124–126
 - See also* Marketing capabilities and organizational contexts
- C-business, 55–56
- Channel-bounding, 139–141
- Character-monitoring process, 49
- Cognitive trust, 8, 42–43
 - affective commitment, 11
 - antecedents, 12–19
 - Brazil's results, 27, 28
 - B-to-B relationships, 2–3
 - China's results, 26–27
 - communication frequency, 16–17

- conceptualizing, 9
- confidential communication, 10
- conflict resolution, 12–16
- cooperation, 10–11
- for cultural contexts, 9–19
- data analysis, 23
- measurement, 20–21
- reliability and validity, 22
- research method, 19–23
- sample and data collection, 19–20
- social bond, 17–19
- United States' results, 24–25
- Cognitive trusting base, 46
- Collectivism, 9
- Commitment, 9
- Common method variance (CMV), 132–133
- Communication, 16, 40
 - frequency, 2–3, 17, 21
 - cognitive trust, 16–17
 - and trust, 16
- Competence, 92–93
- Competitive intensity, 126–127, 139–141
- Composite reliability (CR), 21
- Confidential communication, 9, 10, 21
- Configuration, marketing capabilities and organizational contexts, 124–127
- Conflict resolutions, 2–3, 12–16, 21
 - and trust relationships, 15
- Congeniality, 17–18
- Consumer needs satisfaction, 126–127
- Convergent validity, 115
- Cooperation, 21
- Coordination marketing activities, 123
- Country-level comparisons, 19
- Credibility, 10, 106
 - and benevolence, 104–105
- Cross-border marketing partnerships, 10
- Cross-cultural marketing, 8, 9
- Cultural adaptation, 9
- Customer-focused firm, 127–128, 149
- Customer-linking, 139–141
- Customer loyalty, 107–108, 113, 134
 - attitudinal loyalty, 107–108
 - behavioral loyalty, 108
- Customer performance, 129–130, 134
- Customer relationship capabilities
 - execution, 126, 139–142, 148
- Customer satisfaction, 127–128, 129–130
- Customer – supplier relationships, 4, 94
- Customer vulnerability, 93
- Data analysis, 44
- Decision-making, 40
- Discriminant validity, 112
- Dissatisfied customers, 130
- Distributor's attitude, 114
- eBay, 38–39
- e-commerce, 38–39
- Electronic markets for industrial services, 53–56
 - conceptual framework, 58–67
 - research design, 56–58
- e-marketplaces, 3
 - trust factors, 46–47
 - trust in, 39, 48–49
- Equifinality, 133
- e-trust, 3–4
- Facebook, 45
- Face-to-face interactions, 38
- Firm performance, 124, 127
- Firm size, 126–127, 131
- First-order equifinality, 133–134
- Foreseeing conflicts, 94
- “Formulation-implementation dichotomy”, 122
- “Four-corner outcome analysis”, 123–124
- Guanxi* development process, 26, 29

- High context (HC) cultures, 16–17
- High-involvement relationships, 88
- Hofstede's Country Scores, 19
- Honesty, 93, 106
- Human rational behavior, 122
- Human resource management, 147

- Independent subcontractors, 88
- Individualist cultures, 11
- Industrial marketing literature, 108
- Industrial-product-service-systems (IPSS), 54
- Industry 4.0, 55–56
- Information asymmetries, 54–55, 62, 63–64, 89
- Initial trust formation model, 41
- Inside-out capabilities, 124–126
- Institutional trusting bases, 42–43, 46–47
- Intercultural challenges, 1–2
- Interfirm relationship and trust, 88
- Internal marketing support assets, 132–133
- Inter-organizational relationships, 91
- Inter-organizational trust, 1–2, 91, 92
- Interpersonal and inter-organizational trust
 - benevolence, 93–94
 - committed relationships, 98
 - competence, 92–93
 - foreseeing conflicts, 94
 - honesty, 93
 - integrative model of, 96
 - “leap of faith”, 98–99
 - limitations, 99
 - origins/antecedents, 97–98
 - relational signaling, 98
 - transparency, 94
 - trusting behaviors, 95–97
 - trustworthiness and vulnerability, 92
- Interpersonal cooperation, 89
- Inter-personal relationships, 17–18
- Interpersonal trust, 1–2, 91, 92
 - in business-to-business (B2B) context, 91
- Japanese managers, 14
- Japanese marketing alliances, 10

- Key mediating variable (KMV), 20–21
- Knowledge gap, 123

- “Leap of faith”, 98–99
- Likeability, 17–18
- Likert scale, 110
- Loyalty, 127–128
 - attitudinal, 107–108
 - behavioral, 108, 114
 - customer, 107–108

- Marketing capabilities and organizational contexts, 123
 - analysis, 133–134
 - bivariate correlations, 137
 - competitive environment effect, 131
 - configuration elements of, 124–127
 - customer performance and, 129–130
 - customer relationship capability execution, 148
 - data, 132–133
 - firm demographics effect, 131
 - fuzzy-set analysis, 136–138, 139–141, 146–148
 - limitation and future research avenues, 149–150
 - managerial implications, 149
 - marketing strategy, planned, 146, 147–148
 - market performance and profit margin, 124–131, 136–145

- market share building strategies, 145–147
- and performance, 127–128
- qualitative comparative approach, 145
- satisfied customers, 147, 148–149
- set memberships, calibration of, 134–136
- structural alignment of, 145
- theoretical considerations and findings, 145–146
- Marketing execution capabilities
 - assessment, 135
 - deployment, 145–146
 - enhancement, 143
 - fit with organization context, 124–127
 - marketing organizations, 127
 - quality, 135–136
 - types, 135–136
- Marketing organizational capabilities, 149
- Marketing processes and capabilities, 124–126
- Marketing strategy
 - objectives, 126
 - planned, 146, 147–148
- Market-oriented firm, 149
- Market performance, 134
 - and profit margin, 124–131, 136–145
- Market share, 128–129
 - building strategies, 145–147
 - and profitability, 128
- Medium-price policy, 128–129
- Methodological pluralism, 2
- Monopoly protection, 131
- Moroccan agri-food industries, 104–105
- Multinational partnership
 - performance, 8
- Multiple-case study approach, 3
- Natural essential oils, SMEs in, 38–39
 - data collection, 44–45
 - e-Marketplaces, trust in, 48–49
 - initial trust formation model, 41
 - research findings, 45–48
 - research method, 44–45
 - research SMEs, profile, 45
 - theoretical framework, 40–44
 - trust and e-marketplaces, 39
 - trust factors
 - e-Marketplaces, 46–47
 - entry phase, 40
 - personal phase, 47–48
 - trust mode, evolution, 41–44
- Neutral permutations, 133–134
- Non-linearity, 133
- Non-response bias, 132
- Non-rotated principal component analysis, 132–133
- Online market-places, 3–4
- Organizational (firm) context
 - capabilities, 124, 125
- Organization-situational normality, 41
- Organization-structural assurance, 41
- Outside-in capabilities, 124–126
- Passive strategies, 42–43, 46
- Personality trusting base, 42–43
- Perceptions of trustworthiness, 88, 90, 92–93, 95
- Planned marketing strategy, 122–123
- Principal agent theory (PAT), 64
- Proactive sales expansion, 127–128
- Production-oriented firms, 131
- Product quality and market share, 129–130
- Profit Impact of Market Strategies (PIMS) study, 128
- Profit margin, 134
- Profit-maximization, 126–127
- Purchases-to-sales ratio, 128
- Qualitative research methodology, 3

- Reciprocation, 10–11
 Regression method, 23
 Regrouping credibility, 106
 Relational marketing, 104
 Relational signaling, 90–91, 92, 95, 97–98
 Relational signaling theory, trust, 90–91
 Relationship-keeping, 139–141
 Relationship lifecycle, 8, 9
 Relationship marketing, 8, 20–21, 24–25, 28–29, 65
 Relationship quality, 114
 Reliability and validity tests, 22
 Reputation, 131

 Sales volume and market share, 149
 Sample distribution, 20
 Satisfaction enhancement activities, 130
 Satisfied customers, 129, 130, 147, 148–149
 Second-order equifinality, 133–134
 Self-damaging information, 10
 “Seller side” method, 115
 Seller’s trust complements, 40
 Selling, 8
 Service decision-making, 54–55
 Service marketing, 64–65
 Service-oriented businesses, 53–54
 Service society, 53–54
 Service trust, 63–66
 Service vs. production orientation, 131
 Signaling trustworthiness, 62–63
 Small and medium enterprises (SMEs), 38–39
 data collection, 44–45
 e-Marketplaces, trust in, 48–49
 initial trust formation model, 41
 research findings, 45–48
 research method, 44–45
 research SMEs, profile, 45
 theoretical framework, 40–44
 trust and e-marketplaces, 39
 trust factors
 e-Marketplaces, 46–47
 entry phase, 40
 personal phase, 47–48
 trust mode, evolution, 41–44
 Social bond, 17–18, 21
 in building buyer, 2–3
 and trust relationships, 18
 Social psychology, 88, 93
 Spanning capabilities, 124–126
 Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) codes, 132
 Standardized loadings, 111–112
 Superior business performance, 149
 Supplier’s competence, 9
 Sympathy, 17–18

 Technological turbulence, 126–127, 131, 139–141
 Temporary team workers, 88–89
 Thematic analysis, 44
 Theory of credence goods, 63–64
 Tipping-point tenet, 133
 Transparency, 94
 Trust
 agri-food. See Agri-food distribution, trust in building process, 3, 8 and commitment relationships, 13–14 conceptual framework and research propositions, 92–97 and cooperation relationships, 12 customer loyalty, determinant of, 109 definition, 90
 in e-marketplaces, 39 and information technology, 38–39 interfirm relationship, 88
 in inter-organizational relationships and supply chains, 88 levels, moderators of, 94–95
 mode, evolution, 41–44

- process, 90–92
- relational signaling theory, 90–91
 - and risk, 90
 - signals on websites, 73
- Trust-commitment, 14–15
- Trustee, 92
- Trust factors, 3
 - e-Marketplaces, 46–47
 - entry phase, 40
 - personal phase, 47–48
- Trust formation model, 41
- Trust in buyer – supplier relationship,
 - 1–2
 - intercultural perspective, 1–2
- Trusting behaviors, 92, 95–97
- Trust object
 - certifications, 68
 - customer references, 67
 - employees, 69
 - facilities, 70
 - firm size, 71
 - friends, 69
 - history, 71
 - legal data, 70
 - produced services, 68
 - publications, 68
 - systems, 70
 - terms, 71
- Trust-related management, 2
- Trustworthiness, 3, 10
 - and vulnerability, 92
- Uncertainty avoidance (UA), 9
- Uncertainty reduction theory (URT),
 - 38–39, 40
- US-Mexican alliances, 18
- US Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) codes, 132
- Value cocreation, 54–55
- Vulnerability acceptance, 90