

INDEX

- Accommodations, 72, 142, 145–146, 146
- Athlete migration, 25
- Attitude–behavior gap, 169
- Barriers, 7, 8–9, 18, 159–160
- Battle zone, 110
- Behavior change, 171–172
- Carbon emissions, 71–73
- Competitive intensity, 84–85, 89–90, 93, 93
- Constraints
 - career extension, 28
 - coach/player recommendations, 30
 - data analysis, 27–28
 - emotional refreshment, 162
 - health promotion, 162
 - leisure activities, 30–32, 159–160
 - leisure constraints, 25–26
 - leisure migration, 25–26
 - monetary compensation, 29
 - participant profiles, 161
 - physical discomfort, 162–163
 - pregnancy, 160
 - research method, 161
 - traveling, 161
- Cooktown, 3–5, 10, 12–13, 16–18
- Customer loyalty (CL)
 - citizenship, 38
 - competitive intensity, 89–90
 - customer retention (CR), 83, 85
 - customer satisfaction, 87–89
 - hotel performance, 120
 - hypothesis, 90–91
 - hypothesis tests, 92–93
 - market orientation, 116, 120–121
 - research design, 91
 - respondents profiles, 92
 - sampling procedure, 91
- Customer perceived value, 84–88, 90
- Customer retention
 - customer loyalty, 26–28, 85, 89
 - customer satisfaction, 89
 - definition, 27
 - marketing performance indicator, 29
 - market orientation, 25, 30, 117, 130–131, 135–137
 - responses, 132
 - service quality, 87
- Customer satisfaction
 - customer loyalty, 87–89
 - customer perceived value, 87–88
 - customer retention, 89
 - customer value, 84
 - definition, 92
 - market orientation, 117, 135
 - mediator, 129–136
 - responses, 132
 - service quality, 116
- Ecotourism, 142, 145–146, 148
- Family and non-family manager, 39–40, 47, 53
- Family hotels, 38, 40–43, 46, 51–54
- Food waste
 - attitude–behavior gap, 169
 - future research, 173
 - nudges, 171
 - observability, 172–173
 - social influence, 171–172
- Ghana
 - customer complaints, 134–135
 - customer retention, 135–136
 - customer satisfaction, 135
 - data analysis, 124–128
 - data collection, 122–124

- family hotels, 118
- financial performance indicators, 120–121
- hotels, 116–117
- marketing performance, 118–122
- market orientation, 117–122, 132–133
- participants, 122–124, 129–130
- products layout, 131
- service delivery, 131
- template analysis, 130–131
- Guest houses
 - data collection, 146–148
 - environmentally friendly accommodations, 145–146
 - hypotheses test, 149–150
 - internet, 141–142
 - questionnaire development, 148
 - reliability, 149
 - research hypothesis, 146
 - sampling, 146–148
 - user-generated content, 142–143
 - validity, 149
 - valuable information, 142–143
- Hotels
 - family hotels, 40–41, 46, 51
 - Ghana, 116–117
 - inbound tourists, 101
 - marketing performances, 121–122
 - market orientation, 116
 - resort hotels, 101
 - sociodemographics, 129
 - tools, 173
- Independent travelers, 148, 152–153
- Instrumental work values, 40, 42, 44
- Interview
 - in-depth interviews, 161
 - interview guide, 123
 - personal interviews, 124, 126, 161
 - semi-structured interviews, 75
 - structured interviews, 73–74
- Korean volleyball league, 24
- Literature review
 - customer loyalty, 85
 - customer retention, 85
 - food waste, 168–170
 - Ghana, 118–120
 - marketing performance, 118–120
 - market orientation, 117–120
 - sustainability, 66–67
 - tourism, 6–10
- Luxury tourism
 - carbon emissions, 71–73
 - economic aspects, 75
 - environmental aspects, 75–76
 - hospitality, 68–69
 - leisure, 68–69
 - luxury, 68–69
 - Maldives, 70–71
 - remote destinations, 74
 - remote locations, 69–70
 - social aspects, 74–75
 - sustainability, 66–67
- Management commitment, 119, 159–160
- Market orientation
 - customer complaints, 134–135
 - customer retention, 135–136
 - customer satisfaction, 135
 - data analysis, 124–128
 - data collection, 122–124
 - financial performance indicators, 120–121
 - hotel industry, 121–122
 - literature review, 117–120
 - marketing performance, Ghana, 118–120
 - participants, 122–124
 - products layout, 131
 - sales, 132–133
 - service delivery, 131
 - sociodemographic characteristics of participants, 129–130

- Models
 - characteristics, 48
 - multiple models, 10
 - push-pull model, 7–8, 18–19
 - regression model, 149
 - tourism development model, 5
- Motivations, 38, 46, 53–54
- Norms
 - cultural norms, 30
 - social influence, 171–172
 - social norms, 168–169
- Open architecture approach
 - cook shire council, 14–15
 - demand, 4
 - dependency theory, 8
 - economic base theory, 8
 - economy, 12–13
 - implementation, 17–18
 - location, 11–12
 - marketing issues, 17
 - push-pull model, 7–8
 - supply, 4
 - tourism development, 15–16
 - tourism industry, 13
 - tourism sector, 4
- Organizational citizenship behavior (OCB), 38
 - family management, 44
 - instrumental work values, 42, 44
 - measures, 46–47
 - organizational performance, 43–44
- Organizational performance
 - family management, 44
 - hypotheses, 41–45
 - instrumental work values, 42
 - market orientation, 119
 - organizational citizenship behavior (OCB), 43
 - social exchange theory (SET), 40
- People–environment relations,
 - 100–101, 103–104, 110–111
- Perceived environmental change,
 - 100–101
- Periphery, 6–8
- Place attachment
 - differences, 108
 - limitations, 111
 - managerial implications, 110–111
 - multilevel regression analysis, 109
 - reliability analysis, 105
 - urban sprawl, 100
- Pregnancy
 - depression, 162
 - leisure travel, 160
 - miscarriage, 164
 - participants, 161
 - psychological changes, 160
- Professional volleyball players, 25–26, 28, 32, 34
- Remote communities
 - Cook Shire Council, 14–15
 - economic base theory, 8
 - economy, 12–13
 - implementation, 17–18
 - location, 11–12
 - marketing issues, 17
 - methodology, 10–13
 - models and theories, 5–6
 - periphery, 6
 - push-pull model, 7–8
 - tourism development, 15–16
 - tourism industry, 13
 - visitor data, 17
- Remote destinations
 - carbon emissions, 12–13
 - economic impact, 19
 - environmental impact, 75–76
 - hospitality, 10–13
 - leisure, 10–13
 - luxury, 10–13, 17–18
 - The Maldives, 12
 - methodology, 17
 - peripheral location, 7
 - push-pull model, 7–8

- remote locations, 11–12
- social, 18–19
- sustainability, 6–10
- Service quality, 38–39, 84, 86–87, 116, 131
- Small-island tourism
 - managerial implications, 110–111
 - multilevel regression analysis, 109
 - perceived environmental changes (PECs), 100–101
 - place attachment, 104
 - reliability analysis, 105
 - urbanization, 99–100
- Social influence, 168, 170–172
- Social networks, 26, 28, 32, 142–143
- Sports migration, 25, 29, 34
- Sustainable tourism, 71, 73–74, 76–77
- Tourism
 - content validity, 13
 - economy, 12–13
 - Ghana Tourism Authority (GTA), 46
 - implementation, 17–18
 - luxury tourism. See Luxury tourism
 - remote communities. See Remote communities
 - tourism development, 15–16
 - user-generated content, 10–13
- Travel benefit
 - emotional refreshment, 162
 - health promotion, 162
 - physical discomfort, 162–163
- Travel constrain, 161–163
- User generated content
 - hospitality, 143–144
 - tourism, 143–144
 - valuable information, 142–143
- Women, 159–162