note

The publisher of Built Environment Project and Asset Management has withdrawn the article 'Transforming Design Process in a "Giga" Infrastructure Project: Case Study in Australia' by Liyaning Tang, Matt Stevens, and Mary Hardie. The authors have brought it to our attention. that there are concerns with the data used and sensitivities linked to the reporting of some of the information presented; no factual inaccuracies were noted, however. There was new leadership on the project at the time of the submittal process; these co-owners of the data did not give their permission for it to be used.
