

INDEX

- Academic rigor, 86
- Actors, 147, 178, 258–259
in brokerage position, 323–324 in field, 391
focal, 338–339
individual, 20, 258, 387 internal, 6
market, 90–91, 376–377
network position, 318–319
noncentral, 148 reputation, 320
social, 324–325
voices, 123
See also External actors
- Advogato
Advogato Certification System, 347
Advogato.org, 321–323
Advogato Trust Metric, 348–349
community, 323
member, 322
- Airline hub, 158
- Airline industry, 151, 164
hub-and-spoke system, 153
point-to-point basis, 152 training and staffing functions, 154
- All-star analysts, 356, 368–369
- All-Star Awards, 354
- All-star status, 356, 359
- All-stars' portfolio entries, 360, 361, 371
- Ambiguity, 32
- American Institute of Architecture (AIA), 353
- Analogical learning activation of base domain, 289–291
de alio identity, 287–288, 299–300, 302
on ratings of specific dimensions of camera quality, 303
temporal pattern in, 304
on user ratings, 301, 305, 306–307
- digital cameras, 285
- film and non-film producers, 300–301
- identities in emerging market, 286–287
- inference, 291–293
- mapping, 291–293
- market emergence, 284, 285
- measurement, 298–299
- recombinant innovations, 284
- statistics, 300
- technical features of digital cameras, 313
- Apprentice, 347, 348
- Arab Spring, 229–230
- Articles voices, 123
- Attention, 317, 352
in decision-making, 318–319
differences between All-star and non-All-star analysts in, 377

- effects, 334
- less-focused identity, 325
- problem, 363
- resources, 357
- and social comparison, 361
- in status emergence process, 318
- and visibility, 359
- Bad nodes, 348–349
- Banking institutional logic, 39
- Base domain activation, 289–291
- Baseline model, 436
- Bitcoin, 19–20, 235–236
 - protocol, 234
- “Blockchain” technology, 235–236
- Blumer’s symbolic interactionism, 230
- Bonacich centrality, 319, 330, 334, 336
- Bottom-up
 - community-based movement, 70
 - process, 75
- Boundary-crossing job mobility
 - boundary-crossing approach, 443–444
 - characteristics of entrepreneurial leaders, 420
 - entrepreneur career
 - boundary-crossing and entry into new product areas, 432–433
 - and startup performance, 433–440
 - entrepreneurial leaders’
 - boundary-crossing, 440–441
 - industry boundary-crossing, 442
 - model of entrepreneurs’
 - boundary-crossing, 421
 - as source of industry and functional knowledge and skill, 423–424
 - theory and hypotheses, 422–427
- Brewpubs, 129, 146
- Brokerage, 317, 323–324
 - negative impact of, 325
 - opportunities, 326, 327, 329
 - See also* Network—brokerage
- Business models, 267, 270
 - development, 268
- C-Form, 19
 - organization, 143
- Cascading process, 258
- Categories, 110, 174, 176–177
 - attributes, 112
 - category-spanning hybridization, 427
 - construction, 110, 111, 130
 - emergence, 111
 - as institutions, 209–210
 - Ji-zake* category, 112, 116
 - labels, 110–111, 289–290
 - See also* Ji-biru category
- Categorization literature, 242–243
- Central hubs, 158
- Centralized network, 143
- Certifications, 322
- Charge-coupled device (CCD), 295
- Charter Management Organizations (CMOs), 77, 84
- Charter schools, emergence of, 70, 76–77
 - cross-national comparison, 93–94
 - diversity of identities, 90–93
 - field-level institutional logics to organizational form identity, 91

- founding actors, 86–88
 - frames, 85–86
 - ideal type of institutional logics, 101
 - identity shifts over time, 89
 - initial founder identity, 88
 - institutional logics, 73–74
 - legitimized forms, 94–95
 - measuring institutional logics, 79–82
 - organizational identities, 70–71, 95
 - population ecology, 71–72
 - repackaging institutional logics as organizational frames, 74–76
 - research context, 76
 - institutional complexity, 77–79
 - STEM, 90
 - topic modeling, 82–83
- Chicago School sociologists, 241
- Claiming labels, 174, 175, 177–178
- Clean Energy Finance and Investment Authority (CEFIA), 43
- Co-emergent process, 33
- Coercive
 - forces, 19
 - pressure, 8
- Cognitive
 - action, 259–260
 - confusion, 272
 - dimension, 266
 - interaction, 270–272
 - legitimacy, 124
 - process, 74–75
- Cohesion, 147
 - structural hole signature, 147
- Collective behavior theory, 226, 230, 244–245
- Collective behaviorists, 241
- College preparation frame, 84–85
- College preparatory, 86–88
- Commercialization process, 292–293
- Commitment, 273
- Community, 240, 244–245, 389
 - actors, 90–91
 - community-focused identity, 95
 - energy management system, 264–265
- Community logics, 78, 80, 85, 405
 - development logic to appropriate, 403–405, 406
 - experimentation and articulation, 397–400
 - state logic to restricting, 400–403
- Community radio (CR), 395, 400
 - key actors, 393–394
 - as new phenomenon in India, 388–390
- Community Radio Association and Community Radio Forum, 390
- Competition
 - competition-based status, 356–358
 - evolutionary forces, 142
- Competitive emergence, 378, 379
- Competitive Environment*, 432
- Competitive market mechanisms, 70
- Competitive responses, 358
- Conceptualisation, 256
- Confused nodes, 348–349

- Consequential emergence, 4
- Constraining pressures, 238
- Consultancies, 111
- Consumer behaviour, 263
- Contemporary relevance, 231
- Contested markets, 237
- CorpTech Directory of Technology Companies*, 427–432, 437
- Coverage initiation, predicting, 360–363
- Cox proportional model, 331
- “Craft beer” category, 112, 116, 128
- “Craft Heads”, 128
- Crowd
 - and collective behavior, 229–231
 - crowd-initiated logics, 245
 - crowd-to-market progression, 241
 - crowd-to-social movement progression, 241–242
 - differentiation, 235–236
 - emergent discourse, 224
 - emergent logics, 245
 - formation, 232–234
 - as interaction structure across time and space, 231–232
 - market formation, 237–238
 - members, 241
 - micro-level tensions, 238–240
 - online conversations, 228
- Cryptocurrency, 19–20
- Customer relationship management, 263
- Customised energy reports, 263
- De alio* entrants, 284–285
- De alio* identity, 287–288, 299–300, 302
 - on ratings of specific dimensions of camera quality, 303
 - temporal pattern in, 304
 - on user ratings, by phases of market emergence, 306–307
 - on user ratings, net of user expertise, 305
 - on user ratings of digital cameras, 301
- De alio* producers, 292–293, 298–299
- De novo* entrants, 284–285
- Decentralized network, 152
- Degree centrality, 160–161
- Density dependence, 8
- Deregulation, 115–118
- “Destination Firms”, 429
- Development logic, 405–406
 - to appropriate community logic, 403–405, 406
- “DevilCraft”, 128
- Digital cameras
 - de alio* identity, 301
 - industry, 293
 - producers, 294
 - technical features of, 313
- Digital Photography Review (DPR), 295–296, 297, 299
- Direct network
 - link, 161
 - tie implementation, 158–160
- Diversity, 427
- “DNA logic”, 224
- Domain exit prediction, 358–360
- Dominance
 - dominant category label, 116
 - dominant logics, 384
 - of state logic, 394–397, 398
- Early claimants, 174
 - to labels, 180

- benefits and risks, 181
- category emergence, 183–184
- logic, 180–181
- multiple organizations, 181–182
- relevant PSS, 184–188
- social understanding, 182–183
- eBay, 164–165
- Economic growth, 117
- Economic structures, 268
- Education Management Organizations (EMOs), 84
- Ego-to-alter observation (i-to-j observation), 327–328
- Electrical devices, interoperability, 264
- Emergence, 2–3, 70–73, 78–79, 88, 92, 95, 110, 144, 172, 204–206, 225, 244, 254, 258–259, 265–266, 271–272, 320
 - of actor's status, 319
 - of competitive structure, 353
 - emergent industry's entrants, 130
 - emergent opportunities, 142
 - endogenous force, 20–21
 - evidence, 12
 - formation, 15–17
 - growth, 14–15
 - formation, 10–11
 - Google search trends, 3–4
 - growth, 8–10
 - of industries, 133–135
 - innovation, 19–20
 - of Japanese microbrewery industry, 115–129
 - novelty, 5–7, 12–14
 - organizational ecology, 4–5
 - organizational theory, 18–19
 - process, 175–176
 - processes, 384
 - of social objects, 386–388
 - steps, 17–18
 - theory, 5
 - See also* Charter schools, emergence of; Market emergence
- Emerging categories, 174, 177
 - fiscal sponsorship as, 189–191
 - logic, 384–385, 388
 - role structure, 233
- Empty categories, 112
 - category-specific characteristics, 130
 - creation of common meanings and identities, 110
 - and emergence of industries, 133–135
 - external actors, 111
 - government policy, 111
 - Japanese beer industry, 135
 - Ji-biru* and emergence of Japanese microbrewery industry, 115–129
 - material and symbolic resources, 112
 - media, consultants, and technology gurus, 136
 - research design and methods, 113
 - data analysis, 115
 - data sources, 113–114
- Endogenous force, 20–21
- Energy systems, 262
- Entrants and product offerings, 123–126

- Entrepreneur boundary-crossing, 430–431 and entry into new product areas, 424–426 performance, 426–427
 Entrepreneur career boundary-crossing, 432–433
 baseline model, 436, 437
 industry boundary-crossing, 440
 multinomial Logit models for failure, acquisition, IPO, 438–439 piecewise exponential hazard rate models, 435
 Entrepreneurial leaders, 420, 421, 423
 functional responsibilities, 425
 Entrepreneurial opportunity structure, 164
 Entrepreneurial producer, 243
 Entrepreneurs, 146, 243
 join startup organizations, 420
 Entrepreneurship, 34–36, 165, 425
 Environment-focused identity, 95
 Environmental instability, 32
 Environmental shocks, 144–145
 Environmental uncertainty, 32, 33, 35
 data analysis, 41–43
 data collection, 39–40 external legitimacy, 63–64
 geographical locations, 34
 green banks, 57–58
 green institutional logic, 38–39
 hybrid entrepreneurship, 43–57
 innovative hybrid organizations, 32–33
 institutional logics, 60–61
 institutional uncertainty and entrepreneurship, 34–36 local environments, 58–59 novel strategies, 64 relationship between resource environment and strategic orientation, 59–60 senior leadership teams in hybrid organizations, 36–37 strategic orientation, 37–38
 strategic orientation, 62
 Ethereum, 19–20
 Evolutionary biology, 2 dynamics, 271, 274 framework, 232
 novelties, 2
 Executive migration, 424
 External actors, 6, 111, 118
 actors, themes, and representative quotes, 120 and industry emergence, 131–133 micro-level factors, 123 number of internal and external voices, 119 references to different themes brewers, media, and non-brewers, 122 by year, 122
 themes identified in articles on Ji-biru, 121
 See also Actors
 External legitimating forces, 237
 External shocks, 259

Failure Rate, 430
 Fields, 258–259
 emergence, 260, 265–266, 268–269
 field-level institutional logics, 72
 Film Company, 304, 308

- Firm Age*, 432
- Firms, 178
- “Fiscal sponsor” label, 175
- Fiscal sponsorship, 175 as emerging category, 189–191 implications of fiscal sponsorship empirical context, 210–213
- Flea markets, 237
- Focal actor, 338–339
 tenure, 330
- Focal organization, 231
- Formalization, 84–85 frame, 86
- Formation of emergence, 10–11, 15–17
- “Fortress hub”, 152
- Founding actors, 84
 characteristics, 83–84, 86 frames and institutional logics
 by, 87
- Founding process, 43–44
- Fragmentation, 13
- Function-specific experience, 421
- Functional boundary-crossing,
 425–426, 431, 436, 440
- Functional knowledge, 423–424
- Futurists, 111
- Generalists, 145, 146, 148,
 156–158, 160, 162
- Geography, 172, 175, 180, 184, 194–195
 arguments, 184–185
 geographic PSS, 186–187
 geography segment
 intersection, 196–197 social space defining by, 202
 logic, 187–188
 potential stakeholders, 185–186
 social space defining by,
 199–202
- Geopolitical instability, 38–39
- Glass-Steagall Act (1933), 4
- Global warming, 38–39
- Good nodes, 348–349
- Government-funded projects, 268
- Green banks, 33, 39
- Green institutional logic, 38–39
- “Green” environmental sustainability organizations, 33
- GREENSOUTH, 41, 43, 56–57
 founding process, 51
 Core Founding Group’s
 involvement, 53
 interactions with resource environment, 53–55
 local context and founding group, 51
 long-term strategic orientation, 55
 impact of resource environment on, 52
 interview summary, 40
- GREENWEST, 41, 43
 founding process, 44
 banking logic, 47–50
 Core Founding Group’s
 involvement, 47
 interactions with resource
 environment, 47
 local context and founding group, 44–47
 impact of resource environment on, 45–46, 48–49
 interview summary, 40
- Growth, 8–10, 14–15

- Hazard rate of failure, 433
 Heckman's selection model, 332
 Heterogeneity, 11
 High-status actor, 327
 Hub-and-spoke system, 152, 153
 passengers, 154
 Hybrid entrepreneurship, 43
 founding process, 43–44
 Hybrid organizations, 35–36
 senior leadership teams in,
 36–37
- i-to-j* observation. See Ego-to-alter observation (i-to-j observation)
- “Ideal type” societal institutional logics, 71
 and characteristics of school education field, 101
- Identity, 318
 brokerage on, 325
 identity-oriented approach, 71
 less-focused identity, 326
 of social actor, 324–325
 See also De alio identity
- “Illegitimacy discount”, 35
- Implications, 202–203
 fiscal sponsorship empirical context, 210–213
- Implicit recognition, 254
- Incentives, 57, 176, 180, 203, 268
- Incumbent analysts, 361, 362
- Incumbent non-All-star analysts, 362–363
- Indira Gandhi National Open
 University (IGNOU), 397
- Individual actors, 20, 258, 387
- Industry
 boundary-crossing, 430, 433, 436, 436, 440
 job mobility as source, 423–424
 development, 110
 industry-specific experience, 421, 423 industry-specific knowledge, 421 network structure, 164
- Industry emergence, 133–135
 category-specific characteristics, 130 creation of common meanings and identities, 110
 external actors, 111, 131–133
 government policy, 111
 Japanese beer industry, 135
 Ji-biru and emergence of Japanese microbrewery
 industry, 115–129
 lack of effective and gradual legitimation processes,
 137 material and symbolic resources, 112 media, consultants, and technology gurus, 136
 research design and methods, 113
 data analysis, 115
 data sources, 113–114
- Inference, 291–293
- Information flows, 177
- Innovation, 163, 245–246
 boundary-crossing and emergence of innovation in startups, 422
 diffusion, 245–246
 literature, 230–231
- Innovative banker, 43
- Innovative entrepreneurship, 32
- Innovative hybrid models, 32

- Innovative hybrid organizations, 32–33, 35–36
- Instagram, 3
- Institutional bricolage, 36
- Institutional complexity, 73, 384, 385
 - burgeoning research on, 408
 - in Charter schools field, 77–79
 - institutional logics, 388
- Institutional ecology, 71–72
- Institutional entrepreneurs, 229
- Institutional entrepreneurship, 384, 387
- Institutional investor, 47, 354
- Institutional Investor* magazine, 356, 358, 365
- Institutional logic(s), 17, 72–74, 237, 245
 - archival sources, 417
 - in community radio field, 405
 - conversation between sociologists and emergence theorists, 411
 - emergence
 - of community logic, 408–409
 - with logics perspective, 410–411
 - processes, 384
 - of social objects, 386–388
- emerging logic, 407
- findings, 393
 - development logic to appropriate community logic, 403–405, 406
 - dominance of state logic, 394–397, 398
 - experimentation and articulation of community logic, 397–400
 - key actors in field of
 - community radio, 393–394
 - state logic to restricting community logic, 400–403
 - toward normative evaluation and power, 385–386
- Institutional processes, 254
- Institutional theory, 4, 8, 19, 60–61, 258
 - institutional logics, 245
 - legitimacy and, 9
 - literature, 142
 - novelty and, 7
- Institutional uncertainty, 34–36
- Institutionalised rules, 267
- Institutionalization, 174, 177, 237
- Institutions, 176–177
 - categories as, 209–210
- Instructional frame, 84–85
- Internal actors, 6
- Internal Revenue Service (IRS), 175, 191, 195, 196, 217
 - data, 194
 - U.S. IRS. Fiscal sponsors, 189
- International Data Corporation (IDC), 224
- Internet of Things (IoT), 227–228, 233
- Interoperability of electrical devices, 264
- Intersubjective typifications, 233
- Isomorphism, 19, 254
- Japan Brewer's Association (JBA), 128
- Japan Craft Beer Association (JCBA), 114, 128
- Japan Craft Beer Support, 128

- Japan Microbrewery Association (JMA), 128
- Japanese culture, 268–269
- Japanese ji-biru brewers, 114
- Japanese microbrewery industry, 112–113
- emergence of, 115
 - deregulation and media hype, 115–118
 - entrants and product offerings, 123–126
 - legitimacy, standards, and exits, 126–129
 - role of external actors, 118–123
- See also* Smart-city development in Japan
- Japanese National Archives Library, 114
- Ji-biru* category, 12, 112, 113, 115, 116
- deregulation and media hype, 115–118
 - entrants and product offerings, 123–126
 - legitimacy, standards, and exits, 126–129
 - role of external actors, 118–123
- Ji-zake* category, 112, 116
- Job mobility, 421, 423, 424
- Jobs, Steve, 64
- Journeymen, 347, 348
- Kyoto Protocol, 38–39
- Language analysis, 79
- Language literacy, 86
- Latent Dirichlet Allocation (LDA), 82–83
- Leader-Founder*, 431
- Learning orientations, 9–10
- Legitimacy, 9, 126–129
- Legitimate category, 118
- Legitimation
- evolutionary forces, 142
 - processes, 130
- Lenient categories, 422
- Levi-Strauss' bricolage—concept, 274
- Literacy, 84–85
- “Local beer”. See Ji-biru category
- “Local products”, 115
- Logics, 15, 73, 225–226, 227, 229, 238
- of action, 233, 235, 237
 - banking institutional, 39
 - development, 403–406
 - DNA, 224
 - dominant, 384
 - green institutional, 38–39
 - institutional, 245
 - institutional, 73–74
 - market, 78, 84–85
 - market segment, 187–188
 - professions, 78, 84–85
 - repackaging institutional, 74–76
 - shared, 237, 241
 - state, 78, 84–85, 394–397, 398, 400–403
- See also* Community logics
- Long-term strategic orientation, 55–57
- Low-load factor, 152
- Low-status actor, 327
- LPG reforms in India, 388
- Maasdar in Abu Dhabi, smart-city projects of, 255–256
- “Machiokoshi”, 117
- MALLET package, 82–83

- Management gurus, 111
- Mapping, 288, 291–293, 304
 of existing firms into new product categories, 16 into graph, 348 of knowledge, 18
 of schools by locations, 92
- Market emergence, 284, 285
 call for new approach, 227–229
 crowd, 226
 and collective behavior, 229 dynamics in, 229
 formation, 232–234
 as interaction structure across time and space, 231–232
de alio identity on user ratings, by phases of, 306–307
 existing approaches, 226–227
 market formation, 237–238
 micro-level tensions, 238–240
See also Emergence; Social construction of markets
- Market segment, 179–180, 184, 195–196
 arguments, 184–185
 geographic PSS, 186–187
 logic, 187–188
 potential stakeholders, 185–186
 social space defining by, 199
- Market(s), 110, 224–225, 226–227
 actors, 90–91, 376–377
 analysis, 160
 categories, 172, 174–175
 cognitive foundations, 224 concentration, 145
 entry decisions, 146
 logics, 78, 84–85
 opportunity, 232
 performance behavior, 353 reform, 70
 rejection mechanisms, 11
 space, 243
- Master, 347, 348
- MAXQDA 2010 software, 80
- “Meaning slots”, 110
- Media hype, 115–118
- Mental models, 424
- Metropolises, 115
- Metropolitan statistical area
 (MSA), 194
- Micro-level ethnography, 73
- Micro-level tensions, 238–240
- Micro-macro link, 245
- Microbreweries, 116, 146
- Mimetic adoption, 8–9
- Mimetic forces, 19
- Mission statement, 86
- Mobile technology, 231, 243
- Mobility of leaders, 424–425
- Mortality rate of microbreweries, 145–146
- Mortgage-backed securities, 4
- “Mouthpiece for NGO”, 403
- Multi-step content analysis process, 80
- Mutual cognition, 260
- Mutual recognition, 232, 234
- Nascent entrepreneurs, 142
- Natural selection, 2
- Negotiated environment, 36
- Neoclassical economic model, 226–227
- Neoinstitutional theory, 384, 387, 410
- Neoinstitutional work, 179
- Network opportunity, 159
 emergence and identification, 142, 144
 airline industry, 151–156

- directions for future research, 163–165
- generalists and specialists, 156–158
- network theory and niche, 146–151
- networks as niche, 160–163
- niche width and resource partitioning process, 144–146
- of specialist niche, 158–160
- framework, 163
- Network(s), 143
 - approach, 316
 - brokerage, 323–324, 326, 327
 - information benefits of networks, 323
 - less-focused identity, 326
 - negative correlation, 325–326
 - negative impact of brokerage, 325
 - centralization, 148, 160, 162
 - degree centrality, 330, 334, 336
 - hub, 159
 - connections, 157
 - as niche, 160–163
 - structure, 240
- New labels, 14, 174, 178, 180
- New product areas, entry into, 421, 422, 424, 425, 429–430, 432–433
- New Songdo in Korea, smart-city projects of, 255–256
- Niche, 146–151
 - network opportunity
 - identification of specialist niche, 158–160
 - networks as, 160–163
 - width, 144–146
- Nihon Keizai Shimbun*, 117
- Nikkei Sangyou Shimbun*, 117
- Non-All-star analysts, 359, 360, 362, 363, 365, 371, 375, 377
- Non-focal actors, 338
- Non-ideal innovations, 7
- Non-optimal oriented diffusion mechanisms, 11
- Nongovernment organization (NGOs), 389, 399, 403, 405
 - member, 402
- Normative evaluation and power, 385–386
- Normative force, 19
- Novelty, 5–7, 12–14
 - emergence, 13–14
 - and institutional theory, 7
- Oakland Community Organizations (OCO), 84
- On-demand approach, 263
- Online
 - conversations, 228, 233
 - interaction, 231
 - platforms, 228
 - postings, 232
- Open-source software, 321–322
- Opportunity identification, 142
- Organizational/organizations, 262–263, 269
 - commitment, 265
 - consequences, 242–243
 - ecology, 4–5, 8, 142
 - treatment, 144
 - fields, 254–255, 261–262, 273
 - through cognitive action, 259–260
 - and issue of participation numbers, 256–257

- through social interaction, 257–259
- frames, 74, 94
- interpreting latent themes and identifying, 83–84
- repackaging institutional logics as, 74–76
- identities, 70–71
- interrelations, 256
- learning research, 421
- Overlapping network, 149–150
- Passengers, 157
- Pastapur Initiative, 395
- Path-dependent emergence, 9
- Path-dependent evolutionary process, 13
- Peer certificates, 322
- Peers group, 174, 181–184, 195
- Phenomenon-driven case study approach, 391–392
- Physical geographic space, 146
- PICO network, 84
- Platform leaders, 266–267
- Policy makers, 113
- Population ecology, 71–72
- Producer identities, 285
- Product-level technical information, 295
- “Production market”, 224, 229, 237, 245
- Professions logic, 78, 84–85
- Proximate Social Space (PSS), 173–175, 179–180, 184–188, 206–209
 - early claimants to labels in, 180–188
 - geographic, 186–187
 - independent variables for, 196–197
 - relevant, 184–188
 - social interactions patterns in, 179–180
 - variables for, 196–197
- Public interest litigation, 402
- Qualitative analysis software, 80
- Qualitative research methods, 261
- Radical psychological transformation, 229–230
- Recombinant innovations, 284
- Recombinant technologies, 286
- Reduced search costs, 234
- “Regional hubs”, 161–162
- Regional Public Administration, 120
- Regulation Fair Disclosure (Reg-FD), 365–366, 375
- Relational mappings, 292
- Repackaging institutional logics as organizational frames, 74–76
- Resource partitioning, 144–146
 - dynamics of long-term industry evolution, 146
 - literature, 147
 - theory, 143
- Resurgence, 142
- Route network, 151–152
- Securities analysts, 354
 - Poisson models of entry by, 372, 373–374
 - Poisson models of exit by, 370
 - and quest for institutional investor all-star status, 355–356
- Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), 365–366

- Security proof, 348–349
- Segment-based peers, 198
- “Selfie-stick”, 3–4
- Semi-structured interview protocol, 40
- Sensemaking process, 232, 287, 297, 309
- Sensor technology, 263
- Shared logics, 237, 241
- “Silicon Valley” category, 135
- Small business industry
 - corporations (SBICs), 70
- Small-batch brewers, 118
- Small-batch brewing, 117
- Smart City Manager, 265
- Smart meter, 267–268
- Smart towns, 264–265, 273
 - projects, 270
- Smart-city, 274
 - challenges, 265
 - definitions, 262–263
 - demonstration projects, 268
 - initiatives, 263–265
 - objectives, 265–266
 - solutions, 255–256, 263–264, 267–268
- Smart-city development in Japan, 254
 - cognitive interaction, 271–272
 - evidence, 262
 - Japanese culture, 268–269
 - methods and data, 260–262
 - organisational fields, 254–255
 - and issue of participation numbers, 256–257
 - through cognitive action, 259–260
 - through social interaction, 257–259
 - organisational respondents, 266–267
 - organisations in research, 279
 - smart meter, 267–268
 - specific temporal context, 269–270
 - theoretical context, 256
 - TQM, 273–274
 - See also* Japanese microbrewery industry
- Social actors, 7, 16, 72, 174, 184, 324, 324–325, 408
- Social construction, 204–206, 258, 259
- Social construction of markets, 172, 203–204
 - analysis of survivor bias, 217–219
 - assessing survivor bias, 193
 - categories, 176–177
 - contributions and future research, 204
 - categories as institutions, 209–210
 - implications of fiscal sponsorship empirical context, 210–213
 - proximate social space, 206–209
 - social construction and emergence, 204–206
 - early claimants to labels, 180–188
 - emergence process, 175–176
 - empirical setting, 189–191
 - implications, 202–203
 - institutions, 176–177
 - labels, 176–177
 - PSS, 173–174

- social interactions patterns in, 179–180
 - social interactions, 174–175
 - social space, 199–202
 - strategically claiming labels to influence understanding, 177–178
 - website archives, 192–193
 - See also* Market emergence
- Social engagement, 256
- Social influence, 238
- Social interactions, 172, 173–174, 258–259, 260, 267, 269–272
 - patterns in proximate social space, 179–180
- Social media, 3, 232–233, 243
- Social movement(s), 75, 228–229, 237, 240–242, 258–259
 - mechanisms, 227
 - theory, 14, 226, 227
- Social objects, emergence of, 386–388
- Social ordering, 320
- Social space, 199
 - geography, 199–202
 - probit analysis, 200–201
 - geography segment, 202
 - market segment, 199
- Social understanding, 172–174, 177–178
- Socially Responsible Investment (SRI), 39
- Socio-cognition
 - distinctions, 238–240
 - efforts, 265–266
 - explanations, 256
 - process, 14–15, 246
- Socio-cultural
 - change, 227
 - evolutionary framework, 226
- Sociopolitical legitimacy, 110
- Space, 225
 - crowds as interaction structure across, 231–232
 - social, 199–202
 - See also* Proximate Social Space (PSS)
- Specialists, 156–158, 162
 - network opportunity
 - identification of niche, 158–160
 - niche network opportunity, 160
 - niche size, 158
- Stakeholders, 37
- Standards, 126–129
- Startup outcomes, 429–430
- Startup performance, 430, 433
 - baseline model, 436, 437
 - industry boundary-crossing, 440
- State intervention, 6
- State logic, 78, 84–85
 - dominance of, 394–397, 398
 - to restricting community logic, 400–403
- Statistical t-tests, 83
- Status, 316
 - actor's network position, 318–319
 - Advogato Certification System, 347
 - Advogato Trust Metric, 348–349
 - brokerage position, 317
 - descriptive statistics and correlations, 333
 - emergence of, 316
 - evaluation, 317–318
 - focal actor, 338–339
 - future studies, 340–341

- implications, 339–340
- and network brokerage, 323–327
- non-focal actors, 338
- random effects Probit estimates of working on projects, 332
- Status-seeking behavior, 16–17, 352
 - affecting competitive emergence, 378
 - benefits of securities analyst market, 354–355
 - market actors, 376–377
 - and market performance behavior, 353
 - motivations of competitive emergence, 379
- STEM, 86, 88
 - schools, 90
- Strategic Action Fields (SAF), 258–259
- Strategic orientation, 33–34, 42, 44, 58
 - green, 40, 58
 - GREENSOUTH, 41, 53, 56–57
 - GREENWEST, 41, 47, 55–56
 - of hybrid organization, 38
 - innovative hybrid organizations, 34
 - long-term, 55
 - organization's, 38, 60, 61
 - relationship with resource environment, 59
 - shifting, 36
- Structural equivalence, 147
- Structural holes, 143, 323–324
- Sub-crowds, 235–236, 241
- “Super Smart Society” theme, 135–136
- Supplementary analysis, 193
- Survivor bias
 - analysis of potential, 217–219
 - assessment, 193
- Systematic transactions, 235–236
- Teaching professions, 78
- Technology company, 267
- Technology-focused identity, 95
- Telecom & Internet*, 433, 437
- Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI), 400
- Theory of crowds, 223–246
- Theory on organizational learning, 423
- Thomson Financial Securities Data's VentureXpert database, 429
- 3D printing, 241–242
 - market space, 237–238
- Time, 9–10, 225
 - bank, 154
 - crowds as interaction structure across, 231
 - identity shifts over, 89
 - time-space compression, 225
- Topic modeling, 79, 82–83, 94
 - solution for charter applications, 105–106
- Topics coded by institutional logics and latent frames, 107
- Total Quality Management (TQM), 273–274
- Tranches, 4
- Transformation, 80
- Transitional stage, 235
- Transportation network, 151
- Trust-relationships, 268–269

UCINET, 329, 330

Uncategorized products, 185

UNDP, 400

UNESCO, 388, 400

Venture performance, 426–427

VentureXpert database, 429

Vocabulary analysis, 79

Web-enabled crowds, 231

Website archives, 192–193

“Wisdom of crowds”, 230–231

Youth development frame, 84–85

YouTube, 164–165