

INDEX

Note: Page numbers followed by “n” indicate notes.

- Accessible colleagues, 17
- Autonomy, 12, 75–77, 204
- Availability, 105–107, 133, 181

- Balance satisfaction, 7
- Balanced panel, 172
- BIBB/BAuA Employment Survey (2018), 131
- Black middle-class working mothers, 221
- Blurred boundaries, 21
- Blurring, 20–22
- Bootstrap re-sampling technique, 113
- Boundary control, 24
- Boundary management, 5, 9–10, 13, 16, 20–22, 26
 - theory, 36
- Boundary theory, 5
- Boundary-spanning demands, 132
- Boundary-spanning resources, 132
- Bundesministerium für Arbeit und Soziales (BMAS), 42

- Canadian General Social Survey (2010), 168
- Care responsibilities, 24
 - flexible work, and work-to-family conflict, 63
- CFA model, 81
- Child-care, 19
 - responsibilities, 7, 12, 18, 20
- Children at home and WLB,
 - number and age of, 77–78
- Clerical workers, 106

- Co-workers, 51
 - relationships with supervisor and, 43
 - WFH and relationships with co-workers and supervisors, 39–41
- Colleagues, 17–18, 23, 26
- Commuting
 - faces of, 20
 - time saved from commuting and WLB, 78–79
- Computer terminals, 37
- Conflict, 6, 208
- Contextual demands, 203
- Contextual resources, 203
- Convenience sampling approach, 211
- COVID-19 crisis, 102–103
- COVID-19 pandemic, 4, 10, 13, 25, 32, 50, 70, 202
 - boundary management, 9–10
 - demands and resources, 12
 - descriptive statistics, 13–14
 - effects of COVID-19 pandemic on WFC, 117–119
 - empirical setting, 10
 - Finnish context during, 72
 - home, 12
 - home demands and resources, 18
 - interview study, 16–17
 - JD-R model, 8–9
 - MLR, 14–16
 - personal resources, 18–23
 - WLB satisfaction, 6–8
 - work demands and resources, 17–18
 - working from home, 7–8

- Cross-lagged panel model, 81, 84
 - structural paths and correlations, 95
 - post-hoc multigroup analysis
 - of structural paths and correlations, 96–97
- Cross-partner effects, 163, 175
 - of flexibility, 169
- Cross-partner models, 172
- Cross-partner perspective, 181
- Cross-partner transitions, 168–170

- Degree of self-regulation, 12
- Demand-control-support model (DCS model), 166
- Demands, 8, 12, 203
- Dependent relatives, 38
- Descriptive statistics, 215
- Digital communication platforms, 39
- Domains, 7
 - domain-specific dimensions, 170
- Domestic division of labor, 169
- Dual-earner couples, 88, 166, 169, 179, 206

- E-mails, 39
- Employees, 26, 135, 139, 141
 - well-being, 165
- Employer data, 42
- Employment-related guilt, 209
- Equality approach, 7
- Excessive work pressure, 75
- Exchange theory, 107

- Face-to-face conversations, 17
- Families, 32
 - demands, 41
 - different effects for women and men with and without family responsibilities, 132–135
 - family-specific differences, 131
 - family-to-work conflict, 209
 - flexibility, 16
 - life, 20
 - workers in, 33
- Family flexibility ability (FFA), 12, 16
- Family-interfering-with-work (FIW), 208
- Family-to-work conflict (FWC), 35, 45, 67, 73, 76, 78, 104, 209
- Fatherhood bonus, 106
- Fathers, 108
- Federal Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (BAuA), 131
- Federal Institute for Vocational Education and Training (BIBB), 131
- Female teleworkers, 109
- Finland, 72, 77, 79, 87
- Finnish Context during COVID-19 Pandemic, 72
- Fixed rules, 37, 51
- Flexibility, 222
 - enactment theory, 166
 - importance of, 34–41
 - policies, 222
 - stigma, 106
 - in work scheduling, 135
- Flexible place, 205
- Flexible schedules, 205
- Flexible work, 43
 - arrangements, 147
 - designs, 205
 - social relationships, and FWC, 62
 - social relationships, and WFC, 60–61
 - and work–family conflict, 35–37
- Flexible working arrangements, 163
 - individual transitions, 166–168
 - and subjective well-being among parents, 166
- Flexible-resource perspective, 107
- Flexiplace, 32, 36, 51
- Flexitime, 163–165, 171
 - additional analyses, 172–173
 - analytical strategy, 172
 - cross-partner effects, 175
- Formal overtime, 139
- Frequent face-to-face interactions, 39
- Full information maximum likelihood (FIML), 80

- Gender, 137, 141
 - differences, 106, 134
 - effects of gender on WFC, 115–117
 - gender-children constellation, 137
 - gender-specific assumptions, 134
 - gender-specific differences, 131
 - moderating role of, 108–109
 - stereotypes, 144
- General Social Survey, 180
- German BIBB/BAuA Employment Survey, 137
- German Family Panel, The, 111
- German Workplace Ordinance, 148*n*1
- Germany, availability and use of telework in, 105–106
- Government, 72
 - employees, 4
- Grandparents, 109
- Greedy-role perspective, 107
- Guilt, 207–208

- Health satisfaction, 175
- High-qualified employees, 110
- High-quality care, 218
- Home, 12
 - demands, 18–23
 - resources, 18–23
- Homeschooling, 19–20, 24
- Homeworking employees, 77
- Horizontal gender segregation, 106

- Independent variables, 171–172
- Individual preferences, 52
- Individual transitions, 166–168
- Informal overtime at home as impediment, 135–137
- Information and communication technologies, 105
- Integrated boundaries, 9
- Integrated pattern, 22
- Inter-role conflicts, 35
- International Socio-Economic Index of occupational status (ISEI), 112
- Intersectional approach, 103

- Intervention efforts, 222
- Interview study, 10, 209

- Job autonomy, 43, 53, 71, 80
- Job demands, 71–72, 85
 - in remote work context, 74
- Job demands-resources theory (JD-R theory), 5, 8–9, 70, 72–73, 76, 132
- Job performance, 76
- Job resource, 71
- Job satisfaction, 76

- Key resources, 220
- Kindergartens, 102

- Life satisfaction, 165
 - and domain specific well-being, 167
 - levels, 173, 181
- Location flexibility, 32
- Location-independent telework, 103
- Longitudinal approach, 163
- Longitudinal designs, 223
- Longitudinal measurement invariance, 81

- Marital status, 171
- Maximum likelihood estimation, 13
- Maximum likelihood estimator (MLR), 80
- Measurement model, 84
- Mediating role of telework, 107–108
- Mediation model, 216
 - effects, 107–111
- Meta-analyses, 36
- Micro-transitions, 37
- Model chi-square test, 84
- Moderation effects, 107–111
- Mommy myth, 209
- Motherhood ideologies, 221
- Mothers, 44, 71
- Multidimensional Assessment of Parenting Scale (MAPS), 213, 221
- Multinomial logistic regression (MLR), 13–16

- Multivariate analyses, 44, 141–145
 Multivariate results, 46–50
- Negative parenting behaviors, 220
 Negative work–home interference, 73
 Netherlands, 4–5, 10, 23
 Non work resource, 85
 Non-telework segregating family, 120
 Non-work demands, 77
 Non-work resources, 77
 Nova-Webb questionnaire, 80
- Occupational status, 112, 117 effects of occupational status on WFC, 115–119
 importance of, 105–106
 and work-to-family conflicts
 among parents, 107–111
- Ordinary least squares (OLS), 138, 141, 215
- Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OCED), 202
- Organizations, 26
- Pandemic, 5, 23, 33
- Parent education programs, 222
- Parenthood, 202
- Parenting behaviors, 219
 and W-HRM, 206–207
 workplace flexibility and, 218–219
- Partner, 18–20, 24, 36, 44
- Pearson's r correlation tests, 214
- Perceived autonomy, 205
- Personal resources, 16, 18, 203, 218
 role blurring and boundary management, 20–22
 self-regulation, 22–23
 two faces of commuting, 20
- Positive parenting behavior, 213
 broadband scale, 213
- Positive reinforcement, 214
 subscale, 214
- Pre-COVID, 10
- Pre-pandemic sample, 112
- Predictor variables, 137
- Proactive parenting, 214
- Production, 203
- Proportion by chance rate (PCC), 14
- Quantitative workload, 71, 74–75, 80
- Remote work, 53*n*1, 70, 73–74, 78 (see also Flexible work) autonomy and WLB, 75–77
 job demands and resources and
 WLB in remote work
 context, 74
 quantitative workload and WLB, 74–75
 remote working from home, 71
- Resources, 8, 12, 35
 in remote work context, 74
- Respondents, 17, 22
- Results Only Work Environment
 (ROWE), 206
- Role blurring, 107–110, 119–121
- Scholars, 6, 34
- Schools, 102
- Self-regulation, 16, 22–23
- Sensitivity analyses and further analyses, 44–45
- Social distancing, 32
- Social isolation, 32
- Social support, 52
- Sports activities, 20
- Standardized factor loadings of
 WLB, 81
- Strain-based work–family conflict,
 43, 208
- Stressors, 203
- Structural equation modeling, 80
- Subjective well-being, 165
 cross-partner effects, 175
 flexible working arrangements and subjective well-being among parents, 166–168
- Superiors, 106
- Supervisor support, 206, 224
- Supervisors, 51

- relationships with supervisor and co-workers, 43
- supervisory support for WLB, 12
- WFH and relationships with co-workers and, 39–41
- Task interdependency, 12
- Telecommuting, 53*n*1
- Telephone, 39
- Telework, 53*n*1, 104, 116, 131 (see also Remote work)
 - among parents, 104–105
 - availability and use of telework in Germany, 105–106
 - effects of telework on WFC, 115–119
 - as enabler of better temporal alignment of work and private life, 132–135
 - mediating role of, 107–108
- Teleworking, 163–165
 - cross-partner effects, 175
 - data, 170
- Temporal alignment, 131–137
- Temporal flexibility, 43, 53
- Temporal strategies, 21
- Time-based WFC, 43, 208
- Traditional gender-role models, 147
- U.K., 163
- Understanding Society, 168, 170
 - data set, 170, 173
 - survey data, 182
- Upper-middle class working mothers, 221
- Vertical gender segregation, 106
- Warmth behavior, 216–217
- Warmth subscale, 214
- Women, 162, 209
 - different effects for women and men with and without family responsibilities, 132–135
- Work, 12
 - context, 5, 75
 - demands, 17–18, 203
 - devotion schema, 136
 - overload, 75
 - pressure, 12, 16
 - resources, 17–18, 203
 - spheres, 120
 - tasks, 7
 - work-family multitasking, 107
 - work-family border theory, 36, 102, 104, 107, 166
 - work-family enrichment, 218
 - work-family policy, 202
 - work-family support, 48
 - work-home conflict, 203
 - work-home enrichment process, 203, 218
- Work design questionnaire (WDQ), 12
- Work-interfering-with family (WIF), 208
 - conflict, 209
 - WIF-guilt, 210
- Work-interfering-with-family guilt scale (WIFGS), 214
- Work-life integration, 32–35, 44, 50–53
- Work-life segmentation, 36
- Work-to-family conflict (WFC), 32, 42–43, 73, 104–105, 113–114, 208
 - availability and use of telework in Germany, 105
 - flexible work and, 35–37
 - gender differences, 106
 - importance of occupational status, 105–106
 - measures, 112–113
 - mediating role of telework, 107–108
 - moderated mediation analysis, 115
 - moderating role of COVID-19 pandemic, 109–111
 - moderating role of gender, 108–109
 - need for additional flexibility when working from home, 37–39
 - occupational status and work-to-family conflicts among parents, 107
 - and telework among parents, 104–105
 - WFH and, 34–41

- Work–family domain, 202
 work–family guilt in, 208
- Work–family guilt, 202, 209, 211, 214–215, 223 influence of work–family guilt on parenting practices, 210
 and parenting behavior, 218–219
 policy and practice implications, 221–222 role of, 207–211
 and W-HRM, 204–206
 in work–family domain, 208
 and work–family guilt, 219–220
 workplace flexibility and, 219–220
- Work–home resources model
 (W-HRM model), 203, 220 parenting behavior and, 206–207
 workplace flexibility and, 204–206
- Working conditions, 102–103, 106
- Working from home (WfH), 7–8, 50, 53*n*1, 130, 135, 138–139, 168
 analytical strategy, 44–45 informal overtime at home as impediment, 135–137 need for additional flexibility when, 37–39 and relationships with co-workers and supervisors, 39–41 telework as enabler of better temporal alignment of work and private life, 132–135 theoretical considerations and previous research, 132 work–family conflict, 34–41
- Working mothers, 211, 214–215
 and parenting behavior, 218–219
 policy and practice implications, 221–222 procedure and instrument, 211–213
 and W-HRM, 204–207
 and work–family guilt, 219–220
- Working part-time, 109
- Working remotely during COVID
 19-Pandemic, 79–81
 Finnish context during COVID-19 pandemic, 72
 JD-R Theory, 72–73
 job demands and resources and
 WLB in remote work
 context, 74–77
 non-work demands and resources, 77
 number and age of children at home and WLB, 77–78 remote work and WLB, 73–74 time saved from commuting and
 WLB, 78–79
- Work–life balance (WLB), 70, 73–77, 80–81, 85, 164–165
 number and age of children at home and, 77–78
 in remote work context, 74
 satisfaction, 5–8, 12
 time saved from commuting and, 78–79
- Workload, 71, 74
- Workplace culture, 33, 138, 222
- Workplace flexibility, 163, 202, 211, 213–215
 as contextual resource, 204 and home outcomes, 206
 and parenting behavior, 218–219
 and W-HRM, 204–206
 and work–family guilt, 219–220
- Workplace policies, 224
- Workplace policy-related interventions, 222
- World Happiness Report (2015), 182*n*1
- Zero drag, 106